Joblessness—rising to 8.9%—may be nearing peak

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate rose to 8.9 per cent in April, the government reported today, but there were some bright spots in the employment picture suggesting joblessness may be nearing its peak.

The .2 per cent increase in unemployment was at a slower rate than in March, and total employment rose for the first time in seven months. Nonfarm payroll employment also held steady, and the length of the work week edged up for the first time since the fall.

"I wouldn't want to say we're coming to the end of the line," said an analyst for the Bureau of Labor Statistics. But he added, "There's room for encouragement."

Unemployment in April rose by 200,000 to a total of 8,176,000 following an increase of 500,000 in March, when the jobless rate hit 8.7 per cent.

But total employment, which had declined by 2.6 million since September, increased last month by 240,000 to 84.1 million. With employment and unemployment both rising, the size of the U.S. labor force rose sharply for the second month in a row — to 92.3 million.

The Labor Department said adult males, who have experienced the greatest number of job losses during the current recession, accounted for more than half of the April employment gain.

The jobless rate, since hitting 8 per cent in January, has remained at the highest level since the depression of the 1930s. Not since 1941, when the rate averaged 9.9 per cent for the year out of a work force of 55.9 million, had it exceeded the 8 per cent mark.

A further rise in unemployment is expected in the next few months before it reaches the peak forecast by the Ford administration for about mid-year. However, despite new predictions of an economic improvement, joblessness is expected to remain at high levels through much of the 1970s.

Labor Secretary John T. Dunlop indicated Thursday that he believes the steep rise in unemployment experienced over the past seven months is losing steam. He predicted that joblessness will not go "much higher."

In its report, the Labor Department said total nonfarm payroll employment held steady in April at 76.3 million. Since last October's peak level, payroll jobs have declined by 2.6 million, with all but 200,000 of the reduction occurring in the goods producing industries.

Declines in manufacturing, which have played a dominant role in the economic downturn, continued in April, but at a slower pace, the government said. Jobs in textiles and apparel, two industries hard hit in recent months increased in April, and transportation equipment jobs held steady.

Most of the April increase in unemployment occurred among adult men, whose jobless rate rose from 6.8 per cent in March to 7 per cent, its highest level since July, 1958.

Can't fire 62 teachers, Chaffey told

A state hearing officer has notified Chaffey Union High School District administrators that 62 teaching positions scheduled for elimination in the 1975-76 school year must be retained.

An officer from the state Office of Administrative Hearings declared that the Chaffey school board could not eliminate the teachers under the educational code.

This means that the board must rescind its action during next Monday's meeting. And between Monday and consideration of the tentative budget for 1975-76 it must therefore add another $552,000 to the expenditures for salaries.

Supt. Al Smith announced the state officer's decision this morning. The decision followed hearings two weeks ago requested by teachers after the failure of the March 4 tax override issue.

The administration had recommended the cutback of 62 teachers if the override issue failed. Proposition C on the ballot had called for a $.552 per $100 assessed valuation increase in the general purpose tax rate in 1975-76; a $.6981 increase in 1976-77, and an $.8342 increase in 1977-78.

This would increase the authorized base revenue limit per average daily attendance from its current level of $1,278.40 to $1,450.40 in 1975-76, to $1,571.17 in 1976-77; and to $1,683.36 in 1977-78.

The hearing officer declared that the teachers could be released only if the services reduced were "unusual and unique," said Smith. He said the Chaffey reduction did not qualify as such.

Smith pointed out that the additional finances for the salaries of the 62 teachers would reduce the general reserve for the district.

Upland man suspect in $16,000 robbery

Manager held in store holdup

The 24-year-old night manager of a Montclair Plaza supermarket faces a charge of robbery in connection with the $16,000 holdup of the store April 20.

Robert Eleazar Borbon, 24, of 1302 Deane Court, Upland, was arrested Thursday by Montclair Detective Roger Finn and Sgt. Robert Metzger following a two-week investigation of the robbery at the Lucky Store, 5150 N. Plaza Lane, Montclair.

Metzger said this morning that during the investigation "a number of things pointed to the suspect."

He said that a few pieces of evidence were turned up in the investigation, but none of the stolen cash was recovered.

On April 20 the assistant manager and a clerk in the store entered the business in the morning to be confronted by a lone gunman wearing a knit cap over his face with one hole cut out for his eyes.

The gunman ordered the assistant manager, John Melton, to give him the combination of the safe and locked him inside of a storage room.

The clerk, Karen Brandon, was then given the combination and told to open the safe. The gunman helped himself to $16,000 in cash and placed the clerk in another storage room.

The gunman left, leaving the keys to the store on a fire door handle. The assistant manager kicked a panel out of the storage room wall and called police.

Borbon, being held in the West End Jail in lieu of $50,000 bail was slated for arraignment in the West Valley Municipal Court this morning.

Controversial sex bill OK'd

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Lt. Gov. Mervyn Dymally broke a seven-hour Senate deadlock by casting a tie-breaking vote to approve a bill legalizing homosexual acts between consenting adults.

The lieutenant governor's action Thursday night ended a rare 20-20 tie and brought cheers from the Senate gallery and a sigh of relief from the bill's author.

"Relieved. Really relieved," Assemblyman Willie Brown said when asked how he felt after the vote.

The San Francisco Democrat, who failed in past years to get similar bills through the legislature, walked to the Senate rostrum after the vote and gave Dymally a bear hug.

Brown's bill would throw out rarely used penalties for private acts of oral copulation and sodomy between homouals and heterosexuals.

It would also scrap laws banning adulterous cohabitation. But it would strengthen penalties for sodomy by force or with a minor.

Brown jubilant

Oil depletion bill OK'd by state Senate

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation eliminating the oil depletion allowance for major producers has cleared the Senate in what Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. called a "victory for the people."

"I sense that a new spirit of reform is sweeping across California," the Democratic chief executive said Thursday after senators reversed an earlier decision and approved the bill.

The upper house's 30-9 rollcall was a major legislative victory for Brown, who had called for elimination of the allowance in his inaugural speech.

The depletion bill, introduced by Assemblyman Bill Lockyer, D-San Leandro, repeals the $43-million tax writeoff for California's 19 biggest oil producers.

It scales down the allowance for companies earning between $7 million and $35 million a year, and it allows companies and persons earning less than $7 million from oil production to continue to claim the writeoff on state taxes.

The bill now goes to the Assembly, which approved an earlier version, for a vote on Senate amendments. It would then go to Brown.

Under present law, California oil companies can deduct 22 per cent of their gross earnings before computing state taxes. The writeoff is designed to encourage companies to explore for new oil sites.

But it has come under increasing criticism in recent months because of high oil company profits.

There was lenghthy debate on the bill when it came up for a vote last week. It died then on a 25-14 rollcall, two votes short of the needed two-thirds majority. But Thursday's discussion was brief.

Major valley hospitals will honor walkout

All major hospitals in the valley are canceling surgery on Tuesday, with the exception of emergencies, because of the lack of anesthesiologist coverage.

"But we want the public to know that emergency care will be provided," stated Dr. Nathan Martin, an anesthesiologist at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

The one-day walkout scheduled Tuesday throughout Califorina is designed to focus attention of the public on problems created for them if rates for malpractice insurance continues rising.

San Dimas Community Hospital made its decision to cancel the surgeries after a meeting Thursday morning, a hospital spokesman said.

Pomona Valley Community Hospital and San Antonio Community Hospital, Upland, joined the growing number of Southland hospitals to participate in the walkout after Thursday afternoon discussions.

The protest is being sponsored by the California Society of Anesthesiologists, which is sending a large delegation to Sacramento on Tuesday for meetings with the state legislators.

"The anesthesiologists are spearheading the drive," said Dr. Martin, "But we have the support of all other specialists groups.

"As a more impersonal specialty, we can direct such a program with less trauma to the public."

Dr. Martin said that at present five per cent of a patient's doctor bill and another five per cent of his hospital bill goes to insurance.

"Under the proposed increases, these figures could go to 20 per cent," added Dr. Martin, one of the four anesthesiologists from the PVCH staff to participate in the meeting Tuesday in Sacramento.

Dr. Edmund Duvall, spokesman for the eight anesthesiologists at San Antonio Community Hospital, said the operation room there would be closed except for emergency surgery and all elective surgery would be rescheduled to other days.

Worst over for auto industry?

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. lost a record $94.1 million in the first quarter of 1975.

But the auto industry as a whole is expected to turn a profit this quarter and for the remainder of the year.

"The worst is now over," said an analyst for a major investment house in New York. "The companies have cut costs, and sales will pick up. The industry will return decisively to black ink in the second quarter."

Chrysler reported Thursday it had operating losses of $127 million in the January-March period. However, an accounting change and a tax credit reduced the loss by some $33 million. Even so, the net loss was the largest in the firm's 50-year history. In the first quarter last year, Chrysler showed $1.6 million profit.

Ford Motor Co., with pretax losses of $158 million in the quarter, also used an accounting change and tax credit to cut net losses to $10.6 million, it's first quarterly loss in eight years. In the first quarter in 1974, Ford earned $124 million.

General Motors, the only auto maker to turn a profit in the period, earned $85 million, or $59 million after taxes, its smallest return since 1946. Its first quarter earnings in 1974 were $120 million.

American Motors, which will release its results next week, has said it lost at least $10 million before taxes in the period. AMC showed first quarter earnings last year of $6.9 million.

The operating loss of the four companies compared with earnings of $253 million in the first quarter of 1974 and record profits of $1.3 billion in the first quarter in 1973.

Financial analysts said they did not have complete earnings records, but were sure the net loss was the first for the industry since the 1930s.

"It's the worst since at least the Depression, and possibly the worst in the industry's history," said an analyst in Detroit.

Hundreds of doctors stop work over insurance fees

At many upstate hospitals, it's emergency care only

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (AP) — Only emergency cases were being handled at many hospitals in northern California after hundreds of doctors chose to quit work rather than pay a hike in malpractice insurance of up to 322 per cent.

At most private hospitals in eight northern counties, only major surgery was performed Thursday, although rural areas were not affected as dramatically. Three San Francisco hospitals were handling in-house crises, but were not admitting new surgerical cases.

Most of the hospitals laid off staff because of the curtailment of services and more layoffs were expected as patients now hospitalized were released.

There was no exact count on how many of the 4,000 physicians faced with spiraling insurance hikes refused to renew their coverage Thursday, but it had been estimated that up to 50 per cent would stop work.

Argonaut Insurance Co. of California, which handles malpractice insurance in 30 states, triggered the crisis when it decided to drop such coverage. The company later told California doctors it would renew insurance on an individual basis for three-month periods for up to a year.

High risk insurance rates for anesthesiologists, which have been averaging $5,377 a year, would go as high as $21,508. Rates for low risk practice such as that performed by psychiatrists would go from a low of $1,131 a year to a high of $4,912.

Dr. Sanford Marcus, president of the Union of American Physicians, said most doctors working in surgery-related fields chose not to work because they face the heaviest boosts in malpractice insurance.

"We're wallowing in a situation none of us can fight our way out of individually," said Marcus, who closed his own practice rather than pay $22,000 a year for insurance.

"There are encroachments in the traditional doctor-patient relationship. We can't continue to take care of the people we are committed to taking care of."

Many private hospitals were referring pregnant women to public hospitals not affected by the malpractice situation.

Physicians and hospitals are hoping for legislation to resolve the crisis. The legislature sent a bill to establish an insurance pool to Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. Thursday, but Brown was working on his own solution.

Under California law, a doctor could practice without malpractice insurance, but hospitals risk losing their own insurance if they allow uninsured doctors to practice.

Low, middle income units

Senate passes housing plan

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A bill to provide bond financing for low and middle income housing has been passed by the state Senate. It went to the Assembly, which has already approved a similar measure.

The Senate bill by Sen. George Zenovich, D-Fresno, was approved 31-6 Thursday. It would set up a state housing finance agency to make housing loans.

The agency could sell up to $300 million in revenue bonds and $150 million in federally supported bonds to finance the loans.

It would also place a $500 million general obligation bond issue on the June 1976 ballot.

If voters approve the proposal, the housing agency would lose its authority to issue revenue bonds, which are not backed by the state's treasury.

"It accomplishes a very important purpose: making sure that we have decent housing for the people of our state," said Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco.

"And I think it also gives a much needed shot in the arm to the economy," he added.

Sen. Peter Behr, a Republican who represents the timberrich northern coast, said the bill would also help cut high unemployment among loggers.

Consumer voice will be added to agriculture board

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. is going to put a consumer member on the state Board of Agriculture Board, the board chairman announced.

The announcement came shortly before 16 California consumer groups asked the state to hold a public nomination convention to select consumer members for the state's 34 marketing order boards.

Lionel Steinberg, the board chairman, said Thursday that Brown is considering whom he will appoint as a consumer member to the 13-member board.

Steinberg volunteered the statement after consumer representatives at the monthly board meeting complained that they lacked a voice in state agriculture policy.

"There will be a consumer member on this board. The governor is reviewing many persons for this post," Steinberg said.

However, Barbara Erickson, an alternate public member on the state Egg Advisory Board, said she hopes the governor will give consumers more than one appointment.

"I hope it is not the goal to only place one public member" on each of the state's 34 marketing order boards, she said. Those boards regulate produce quality and research, among other things.

Paul Ames, an Indio board member who is a vegetable farmer, said it was "very foreign to me that consumer groups think they could exercise intelligent control" over agriculture industries.

L.A. commission questions policy on policing concerts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Police Commission wants to know why Police Chief Ed Davis used 75 policemen to cover each night of concerts by the British group "Pink Floyd."

The commission Thursday ordered Chief Davis to report "as rapidly as possible" on the cost of policing the concerts, the number of prosecutable filings and the types of offenses involved.

Commissioner Robert I. Weil said the commission has been "literally deluged" with complaints of over-policing, police harassment and discriminatory law enforcement at the five concerts at the Sports Arena last week.

The LAPD reported its officers arrested 511 durtng the five nights, mostly for marijuana possession.

In another development, City Councilman Davis S. Cunningham held a press conference and, for the second time, asked Chief Davis to report to the council, mayor and Police Commission on whether the LAPD can protect the public.

Zebra witness says he saw Patty and Cinque at temple

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The man who claims he witnessed several "Zebra" murders now claims he saw fugitive newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst and the late Donald "Cinque" DeFreeze in Black Muslim Temple 26 here.

During cross-examination, Anthony Cornelius Harris made the statement Thursday during his 12th and final day of testimony. He is regarded as the key prosecution witness in the trial of four black men accused of three murders and four assaults in a series of street attacks on whites here.

Defense attorney Clinton W. White asked Harris: "Did you tell the police that Cinque was in the temple?"

Harris said he had seen the Symbionese Liberation Army leader who was killed with five other SLA members in a shootout with Los Angeles police.

"Did you tell police you had seen Patty Hearst in the temple?" the attorney asked.

Harris said he had seen her there and told police, but White ended his questioning without seeking any elaboration.

After sending the jury out of the room and excusing Harris, Superior Court Judge Joseph Karesh told White:

"I cannot understand what conceivable purpose you had for asking if he had seen Cinque and Patty Hearst in the temple. If it was your intention to test the credibility of the witness, you nonetheless have brought in the Nation of Islam which is not on trial."

The four defendants are Larry C. Green, J.C. Simon, Manuel Moore and Jesse Lee Cooks. They are Black Muslims.

Nixon emotional but not unstable at end--lawyer

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — James D. St. Clair, the lawyer who handled former President Richard Nixon's Watergate defense, says Nixon was not mentally unstable in his last days as president.

"I saw him occasionally when he was highly emotional, just before his resignation," St. Clair told a Law Day banquet Thursday. "But I never felt he was out of touch with reality."

"I do suspect, however, that he was one of the last to realize he must resign," St. Clair said.

Ayala acts to ground Air Guard move

Legislation written by Sen. Ruben S. Ayala, D-32nd Dist., which would affect the California Air National Guard Unit at Ontario International Airport and water users in the Chino Basin, has cleared the Senate and gone on into the Assembly.

Ayala said both items, Senate Joint Resolution 9 and Senate Bill 222, moved through the upper House Wednesday night.

Senate Joint Resolution 9 asks the U.S. Department of Defense to rescind its recommendation that the California Air National Guard Unit be moved from Ontario International Airport to March Air Force Base.

It received 36 yes votes for unanimous support in the Senate, Ayala said.

"In this troubled economy, I submit this is no time to put people out of work," said Ayala. "The Air National Guard pumps more than $2 million in payroll into the local economy each year. Som 150 fulltime employes would be affected by this relocation."

Ayala said the guard has three parcels of land in Ontario, eight acres of federal property, 28 acres from City of Ontario on a 49-year lease to expire in 2001, and two acres from Ontario on a five-year lease to expire in 1976.

"March Air Force Base is not adequaely equipped to handle the guard at this time. This is admitted by everyone concerned," Ayala said.

"The master plan for Ontario International Airport includes the California Air National Guard Unit."

Ayala said the move could not be made without the consent and approval of the Governor and "he's certainly not going to approve such a move."

Assemblyman Bill McVittie, D-65th, will carry the resolution in the Assembly, Ayala said.

The second piece of legislation, SB 222, would authorize the Chino Municipal Water Basin to levy a tax for fiscal 1975-76 and fiscal 1976-77 to raise $400,000 for a study of the best way to replenish the underground basin.

This bill has an urgency clause, and with a two-thirds majority approval in the Legislature and the signature of the Governor, immediately would become law.

"This would be a consumer's tax," explained Ayala. Those who use the most water would pay the most tax. It is not a property tax. The cost to individual homeowners would be very small."

Those who use less than 10-acre feet of water a year will not be charged anything above their regular water bills.

Ayala said there is no opposition in the district to the bill which grew from numerous public hearings.

"Currently we're being told the Chino Water Basin is being overdrafted by 70,000 acre feet a year. We're pumping more out than is going back in naturally. This means that sometime in the future we will run out of water.

"I don't want someone coming to me in 15 or 20 years and saying we're out of water, you were told and you didn't do anything. I am doing something," Ayala said.

This is probably his most significant piece of legislation, the senator added, and it will "self-destruct in two years."

Ayala will take this bill to the Assembly Agriculture and Water Committeee. McVittie will carry it to the Assembly floor.

Senate approves 7 Brown appointees

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Seven of Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.'s appointees have been approved by the state Senate.

There was opposition to only one: Jiro J. Enomoto, director of corrections. He was approved 21-8.

Also confirmed were Leonard Ross, a member of the Public Utilities Commission; Tim Wallace, director of agriculture; Pearl S. West, a member of the Youth Authority Board; Willie Barnes, commissioner of corporations; Michael W. Kirst, a member of the state Board of Education and James Lorenz, director of the Employment Development Department.

Enomoto's opponents said he had promised to promote minorities over whites, and had favored reducing prison populations at what they called too fast a rate.

But. Sen. Walter Stiern, D-Bakersfield, said Enomoto had a good record as head of the prison at Tehachapi.

Settlement reached in GLACCA dispute

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An out-of-court settlement has been reached in a lawsuit filed by Mexican-American groups accusing the Greater Los Angeles Community Action Agency with discrimination, say spokesmen for the disputing parties.

Representatives of the Chicano Coalition said Thursday the settlement was negotiated "in the interest of both parties."

Under the settlement, GLACAA, the county's chief anti-poverty unit, will increase its Spanish-origin employes from 25.7 per cent to 30.8 per cent by June 15, 1975. The agency has 181 permanent employes.

Fair trade repeal plan: all but liquor

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's fair trade laws would be repealed for all goods except liquor under legislation approved by the state Assembly.

Manufacturers would no longer be permitted to set minimum retail prices on the merchandise they produce under the bill, which was sent to the Senate Thursday on a 68-2 Assembly vote.

Assemblyman Alister McAlister, D-San Jose, author of the bill, said President Ford and former Gov. Ronald Reagan were among those seeking repeal of the so-called "fair trade" laws.

In an interview, McAlister said he was somewhat surprised that there was no opposition from groups such as the California Manufacturers Association.

Congress may not be able to stop him

Ford plan to increase fuel prices assured?

WASHINGTON (AP) A surprisingly close Senate vote indicates Congress may be unable to block President Ford's plan to force fuel conservation by raising prices sharply.

Opponents of the Ford program say the result could be a $30-billion-a-year increase in fuel bills, or about 15 cents more for a gallon of gasoline, more unemployment and a new round of inflation.

By a 47 to 36 vote, the Senate on Thursday passed a bill giving Congress authority to veto any presidential action removing federal controls from oil prices.

But the margin was nine votes short of the two-thirds required to override a virtually certain veto of the bill.

Barring position changes by several senators, the vote could mean that Ford will be able to remove all oil price controls, at an ultimate cost of $22.3 billion a year, and impose the remaining $2 of a $3-per barrel special tariff on imported oil, which would raise fuel prices by an estimated $5.4 billion a year.

In addition to these direct increases in oil prices, according to Senate Interior Committee estimates, Ford's program would push up the prices of other fuels by billions of dollars.

Thus, while the Senate approved a bill sharply opposed by the Ford administration, the narrow margin amounted to a moral victory for the President in his battle with Congress over a national energy policy.

While Ford seeks to raise prices to force conservation and reduce dependence on foreign oil, the Democrats who control Congress generally favor a program aimed at reducing imports and fuel consumption only to the extent that the economy would not be hurt.

The House Ways and Means Committee is moving on a path much more compatible with the Ford program, but senators have shown little appetite for that route, either.

Ways and Means hopes to complete action early next week on a bill that would gradually increase the four-cent-a-gallon federal gasoline tax to discourage pleasure driving; impose a graduated tax on cars getting less than 19 miles per gallon; and reduce oil imports through a quota system.

Waiting in the wings of the House is a much milder version of the bill passed by the Senate on Thursday. The House version would give Congress 15 days to veto a presidential plan to remove controls from oil prices.

The Senate bill would:

—Allow either house of Congress 30 days to veto such a removal of price controls.

—Block any U.S.-backed minimum world oil price unless Congress approves. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger advocates a floor price.

—Freeze the price of "new" U.S. oil, representing 40 per cent of domestic production, at no higher than the Jan. 31, 1975, level.

—Allow an uncontrolled price, meaning about $12.40 a barrel, on a percentage of domestic oil produced by expensive, enhanced recovery techniques.

Sen. Harry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chief author of the bill, said passage of the measure is the only way to "arrest the administration's headlong rush toward higher energy prices which would jeopardize any prospect of an early economic recovery."

But Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., called the bill "a misguided attempt to help the consumer" that would backfire by reducing the economic incentive for energy exploration to an extent that would bring dire fuel shortages.

2 men rob Ontario arts, crafts store

Two men, one armed with a small caliber pistol, robbed Beverly's Arts and Crafts store at 1010 N. Mountain Ave., ONTARO, of a small amount of cash and a woman clerk's purse Thursday afternoon.

Clerk Tamela Laird, 17, told police that two men entered the store and spent some time looking at the merchandise before approaching the counter. The clerk said one of the men produced an automatic pistol, placed it to her head and ordered her to lie down on the floor.

The men then rifled the cash register of a small amount of cash and told the clerk they were going "to swipe some other stuff." Miss Laird said the men took the store money and her purse.

The gunman was described as a Caucasian, 20, with black curly hair coming down over his ears. He weighed about 140 pounds, was 5 feet 9 to 5 feet 10, wearing blue Levis. The second man was described as a Caucasian, 20, of the same height, 140 to 150 pounds. He had blond hair, parted int he middle, and a mustache that came over the corner of his mouth. He was wearing a white "T" shirt and Levis.

In POMONA, a 75-year-old Covina man was robbed by two men who offered him a ride and then demanded money.

Hal Golding told police that he was waiting for a bus at Ganesha Boulevard and Orange Grove Avenue Thursday at 6 p.m. when the men drove up and offered him a lift to Covina for $2.

They drove toward the Foothill Freeway, got off at Allen Avenue in San Dimas and forcibly removed the victim's wallet. Golding was then kicked and forced out of the car. He suffered cuts and abrasions, but declined immediate medical treatment.

Officers said they were looking for a 1967 to 1970 Ford Mustang. The robbers were described as male Negroes, one 20 to 25, the other 18. Both were of medium build and one wore an Afro hairdo.

UPLAND police this morning are searching for a 29-year-old man who allegedly raped a 17-year-old girl in an apartment Thursday evening while his girlfriend stood outside the door.

Police said the Ontario girl sought emergency first aid for buises and abrasions at Ontario Community Hospital. The girl said she was visiting with her girlfriend and her girlfriend's boyfriend at the apartment. She said her girlfriend left the apartment for a few minutes and the man attacked her ripping off her clothes and forcing her into the bedroom.

Police said the incident occurred about 8:15 p.m.

Destruction of embassies

PARIS (AP) — The Khmer Rouge have destroyed several foreign embassies in Phnom Penh and no foreign mission is now functioning in the Cambodian capital, official French sources reported today.

The sources said their information came from diplomatic dispatches whose origin was not further explained.

The report of the razing of the buildings coincided with a statement from a spokesman for President Valery Giscard d'Estaing that France was now deeply concerned about the fate of a truck convoy that was supposed to be bringing 610 foreigners from the French Embassy in Phnom Penh to the Thai border.

"We are without any word of these refugees," the spokesman said, "they have not been seen."

The spokesman said there was no communication between Paris and the French Embassy in Phnom Penh where the foreigners took refuge the day of the Khmer Rouge takeover. It was not even certain that the convoy left Phnom Penh, the spokesman said.

The revolutionary government's Paris spokesman has charged that the French Embassy was a refuge for "war criminals", including Sirik Matak, one of the leaders of the coup that deposed Prince Norodom Sihanouk in 1970.

The presidential spokesman confirmed today that Sirik Matak had gone to the embassy, but once having seen the food and sanitary situation there, he was said to have left immediately. This information reached France, the spokesman said, before communications were cut off.

The spokesman reported that France was making representations to the Phnom Penh authorities in Paris and Peking about the refugees, but that no reply was received so far.

The situation in Saigon was described, however, as causing less concern. Communications between the French Foreign Ministry and the embassy continue to function and there were reassuring reports from Saigon about the well being of the city's French residents.

The delegation of the South Vietnamese revolutionary government will soon take over the premises of the former South Vietnamese Embassy in Paris, a spokesman said.

The spokesman said no date had been set for the takeover. The move will be in accordance with a decision taken by the new government in South Vietnam, he added.

The former South Vietnamese Embassy here has not answered phone calls for the past two days, although in principle the embassy continues to function. Many Vietnamese have crowded the embassy seeking passports or other documents.

Former Ambassador Nguyen Duy Quang will remain in Paris, sources close to the former Saigon official said.

Mrs. Ford extends her activities after cancer checkup is favorable

WASHINGTON (AP) — Good reports on Betty Ford's health are issuing from the White House and the First Lady's schedule lists more activities than at any time since she underwent cancer surgery last September.

Mrs. Ford underwent a periodic four-month cancer checkup Thursday at Bethesda Naval Medical Center, with all results reported favorable.

And President Ford, apparently trying to dispel rumors about his wife's health, pointedly noted that he had named her beneficiary on a government savings bond because "she expects to live a lot longer than I do."

Ford made that comment shortly after his wife had returned from her three-hour medical exam at the medical center in Maryland.

White House physician Dr. William Lukash reported that all the laboratory tests on Mrs. Ford, including a mammogram of her left breast, "were completely negative and there was no clinical evidence of cancer recurrence."

Since she had her cancerous right breast removed, Mrs. Ford has begun a two-year post-operative course of chemotherapy which involves taking pills five days in a row once in every six weeks.

Press Secretary Sheila Weidenfeld said Mrs. Ford "has had very little discomfort from her osteo-arthritis in the last few weeks.

All the good news came on the heels of vigorous denials Monday from the White House of a Newsweek magazine report that Ford told intimates that he had decided against running in 1976 because of his wife's health and because he could not spare the money and time to campaign.

Press Secretary Ron Nessen was asked about a previous presidential statement that Ford's elections plans were contingent upon Mrs. Ford's health and whether that still held.

He said, "Mrs. Ford's health is good and there is no indication that it is not going to be good. I think before we open up the whole subject to this contingency or that contingency, the basic fact is he intends to run for president, period."

Jailed man linked to murder try by car over cliff

A 21-year-old Claremont man is being held in West End Jail this morning on suspicion of attempted murder for allegedly attempting to force his mother to drive off a cliff on Mt. Baldy Road on March 30.

Sheriff's detectives said this morning Donald Eugene Corder of 318 Annapolis Drive, Claremont, was arrested following a month long investigation.

Corder, according to detectives, was riding with his mother in a car on Mt. Baldy Road when for some reason he grabbed the steering wheel in an attempt to force his mother to drive off the cliff. Detectives said Corder did not try to jump from the car but possibly intended to go off the cliff with his mother.

The suspect's mother managed to regain control of the automobile and drive home without further incident.

Detectives said the case is still under investigation.

Refugees headed for U.S. far short of estimates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of South Vietnamese refugees headed for asylum in the United States appears certain to fall far short of early estimates.

Before the massive evacuation code-named Operation Talon Vise reached its climax this week, many officials were estimating that as many as 200,000 people would flee South Vietnam in advance of a Communist takeover.

Immigration Service officials now say the total may be around 50,000.

A spokesman emphasized that the situation remains confused and no totals are certain.

He said that as of Thursday there were 27,000 people in refugee camps on Guam and about 4,500 on Wake Island. In addition, an unknown number are on board U.S. Navy ships, possibly more than 20,000 people.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff ordered an end to refugee rescue operations Thursday and Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger said participating ships are heading out of Indochinese waters.

However, a State Department spokesman said that as long as Vietnamese come out on the high seas "we will pick them up." Defense officials report that about 30 South Vietnamese Navy ships have been sighted in the South China Sea with large numbers of refugees aboard.

The State Department spokesman said that about 32,000 refugees had been picked up on the seas as of early Thursday and the Pentagon said there were also about 8,000 who had been rescued by helicopter.

How will this influx of refugees fit into normal immigration quotas?

Current law sets an annual limit of 170,000 immigrants from all countries outside North and South America and the Caribbean. No more than 20,000 immigrants are admitted during a year from any one country.

Exceptions to those limits are spouses, parents and children of American citizens.

Immigration laws were rewritten in 1965 to eliminate the old national quota system that was based on the ethnic makeup of the nation in 1921. Under that system the countries with the highest quotas were the British Isles, France and Germany.

South Vietnamese heading for the United States would be admitted under a parole order issued by Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi, a system designed to permit quick admission of political refugees and used before to admit Hungarians and Cubans.

In 1956, 40,000 refugees came to the United States from Hungary after the Soviet Army crushed a bid by Hungarians to break away from Russian domination.

Since Fidel Castro took power in Cuba, some 675,000 people have fled the island and entered the United States under parole status.

The Vietnamese immigrants eventually will take up the 20,000 slots allocated in a given year to a single country.

They will remain in a parole status until immigration officials complete processing their applications for visas.

Vietnamese orphans comprised the first large group admitted under the current parole order. So far, 2,240 have come to the United States, nearly all of them to join American families that had begun the process of adopting them.

Refugees—in self-imposed exile—becoming restless

CAMP PENDLETON (AP) — "I'm going to get a job, but I don't know how to get out of here," the Vietnamese woman said sadly. "How do we get out?"

An effort has begun to match refugees like her with Americans willing to find them jobs and homes.

About 500 of the 6,000 unattached Vietnamese in "Little Saigon" have so far found sponsors. They must have them to leave here.

"Little Saigon" is the refugees' camp of World War 11 quonset huts and tents inside this giant Marine base, about five miles from former president Richard M. Nixon's estate.

Many are restless in their self-imposed exile. "I no like, I eat, I walk outside, I sit down, I go to the toilet, I come back, sit down. I no like," said one.

In other developments in "Little Saigon:"

—A few Americans evacuated from South Vietnam were resentful over alleged "preferential" treatment Vietnamese were receiving.

—An immigration officia said increasing numbers of unsponsored and destitute refugees were showing up among the thousands of evacuees flowing into Pendleton.

—Unused to temperatures in the 50s and 60s, about 25 to 30 degrees cooler than in tropical, humid Vietnam, many refugee children and adults had colds today. There were no serious cases. The Marines issued a third blanket to every person.

—Three cases of measles have turned up, resulting in an immunization program against the disease for all children here. Health officials said no serious communicable diseases have been detected.

Refugees are arriving aboard military and commercial jets in almost houriy shuttles from the Philippines, Guam and Wake Island. Twenty-four or more flights with 5,000 or more persons were expected to be here by tonight.

By Saturday other refugee flights were expected to go to Ft. Chaffee in Arkansas and Eglin Air Force Base, Fla. A total of 80,000 persons is expected. Most are middle-class professionals.

By today more than 1,700 persons were on their way to cities around the nation, but most of them were American evacuees with their Vietnamese wives, children and in-laws.

Voluntary agencies like the Red Cross and Church World Services began their first full day Thursday of finding individuals, civic groups, cities or companies who would sponsor refugees with nowhere to go.

"Now we're getting a lot of bona fide refugee types — people that are looking for rehabilitation," said immigration official Edward Day.

Most arrangements are being made informally: "A Los Angeles company called up and said it wanted to hire some Vietnamese employes," said Bill Byrns of the Red Cross. "They didn't say how many."

Marine Capt. William Cowan, a Vietnam veteran, is sponsoring a South Vietnamese Army friend and his family, explaining, "We shared the war together, and now I want to share the peace with him."

But Robert Wilberger, 29, of Saunders, Va., a telephone technician with a Vietnamese wife and three children: "No one seems interested (in American evacuees.) The Vietnamese are getting all the attention. There are no special job assistance programs for us."

Said Edward Madden, 40, of High Point, N.C., a building contractor: "They're going all out to help the Vietnamese. Most of us Americans are broke, and our outlook for jobs here is not very good.

"I think there must be about 2,000 of us in the same boat. We had to leave suddenly.

"Most couldn't get our money out of Vietnamese banks. We left so fast all we could bring to show for nine years over there is a transistor radio."

"Jobs are very scarce in federal civil service now — we're very concerned," said June Eldridge, who with her husband worked for the U.S. Agency for International Development in South Vietnam.

The Seventh-day Adventist Church-operated Loma Linda University near San Bernardino announced Thursday it will sponsor 400 Vietnamese refugees, about 200 of which already are at Pendleton.

Most of these refugees are Seventh-day Adventists, and worked at the Seventh-day Adventist hospital near Saigon.

They will go to the university as soon as possible and be housed temporarily in the gymnasium. The church plans to find them homes and jobs in the Loma Linda—San Bernardino—Riverside area, about 60 miles east of Los Angeles.

But who is going to take care of Nguyen Thi Le, 62, who arrived here shepherding 22 members of her family?

She does not want to settle in the United States with her brood but hopes the United States government or someone will help them get to France, where they have friends.

Then there is Daon Thi Lao Smith, 41, whose husband, William, was killed in a truck accident in Vietnam in 1973 while working as a mechanic. She has a daughter, 4.

She hopes to get in touch with her dead husband's son, Gary Smith, but has lost his address.

She will work as a babysitter or a cook. Although penniless, she vows, "I no like living on charity."

Cong—Tang Ton Nu Hai-Phu worked for the American Defense Attache Office in Saigon and, unlike most of the other refugees, speaks good English. She has a son, 12, and a daughter, 10.

"I'm going to get a job, but I don't know how to get out of here," she said. "How do we get out?"

"Someone told me the bus is $7 to town and a taxi is $12. Why so much?

"...I feel lonely. I don't feel happy yet. I mean, I feel happier than in Saigon, but I'm lonely."

Blind will hold legislation parley . . . McVittie backs jury call for all

THE POMONA-ONTARIO CHAPTER of the NATIONAL FEDERATION OF THE BLIND will hold its third annual legislative luncheon May 17 at the Pomona Elks Lodge.

Speakers will include Pomona Mayor Ray Lepire, state Sen. Ruben Ayala, D-32nd Dist., Assemblyman William McVittie, D-65th Dist., Maggie O'Donnell, administrative assistant for Rep. Jim Lloyd, D-35th Dist., and Perry Sundquist, president of the California branch of the National Foundation of the Blind.

The annual meeting provides members with an opportunity to discuss with legislators the needs and problems of the blind.

The local chapter meets the second Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. at the Christ The Victor Lutheran Church in Pomona.

ASSEMBLYMAN BILL McVITTIE, D-65th Dist., joined with the Assembly majority recently in approving legislation that would repeal the long list of occupational exemptions to jury duty in California.

The measure now goes to the state Senate for approval.

"The right of an accused person to be judged by a jury of his peers is jeopardized when so many citizens are summarily excused from jury service because they happen to be teachers, doctors, elected officials, attorneys, railroad workers and even tollgate keepers," said Mcittie.

The proposed measure repeals the entire list of occupational exemptions and limits the basis for excusing a person from jury service to class where it would entail undue hardship on either a prospective juror or the public he declared.

STATE SEN. H. L. RICHARDSON, R-19th Dist., has introduced legislation that seeks to assure subjects of recall elections of fair treatment in sample ballot arguments and also to clarify voting in such elections.

The measure was prompted by a recent recall election in Pasadena.

"The sample ballot was on the left-hand page asking whether so-and-so should be recalled, and the argument favoring recall was on the immediate facing page. You had to turn the page to find the argument against recall, and I don't think that's equitable no matter who is involved," he said.

"And why should the question call for a 'yes' vote to remove someone from office, which is a negative act? It makes more sense to ask if someone should be retained. Then the 'yea' vote is for the person and the 'no' is for removal."

Richardson's bill would require that a separate document be published for the statements so arguments for and against recall can be given equal treatment and are not connected with the sample ballot.

The other provision would change the ballot language from "Shall (name of person) be recalled from the office of (title of office)?" to "Shall (name of person) to retained in the office of (title of office)?"

ASSEMBLYMAN McVITTIE said elderly property owners can begin May 16 filing for property tax assistance. Necessary forms may be obtained at McVittie's offices in Pomona and Ontario.

The assistance can pay up to 96 per cent of the owner's property tax bill. To receive a refund, the applicant must not make more than $10,000 annually; must be 62 years or older as of Jan. 1, 1975; must be a California resident and occupy the home.

Refunds are based on a percentage of the person's income, with maximum aid going to those with incomes under $1,400. Last year, 310,000 elderly persons were refunded $50 million.

Send a man, not a boy!

Opening lead — Q ♦

South had really played the hand rapidly. He ruffed the third diamond, led a club to dummy's ace and a second club back to his king. Then he led a third club and ruffed with dummy's seven of trumps. East overruffed with the jack for the third defensive trick. Then he led back a trump and eventually South had to lose his last club.

Do you see where South went wrong? He had sent a boy on a man's errand. He should have ruffed that first low club with dummy's king of trumps. Later on he would ruff the last one with that seven spot. East could overruff or not but South would still make his contract.

As a matter of elegance, South should cash dummy's ace of hearts before playing clubs. Then when he came back to his hand by ruffing a heart he should ruff with his ace of trumps. All this elegance would be unnecessary the way the cards lay, but South would be guarding against a possible heart overruff in case West held just one heart and the jack of trumps.

Quick saute

Lean, tender, flavorful beef is perfect for simple but elegant saute dishes that require quick cooking. Thinly sliced top round or eye of round are favorite cuts for this. You can also stir fry almost any cut of beef when pieces are thinly cut for this quick, efficient cooking style. Add vegetables to the skillet or pot and your meal is hot and appetizing in a very few minutes.

What's going on around here

FOR SINGLES — The Single Mingles Recreation Vehicles Club has two outings planned this month.

Members will have a "wild animal" safari trip Saturday and Sunday to a private campground near Saugus.

They will then travel May 16 and 17 to Calico.

The group is for single adults over 30 years of age. It is affiliated with the "Good Sam" Campers. For more information, phone 623-8048.

ROSE SHOW — The 16th annual Mother's Day Rose and Rose Arrangement Show will be held at Rose Hills Memorial Park in Whittier on May 10 and 11.

Competition is open to all amateur rose growers or rose arrangers. They may compete for hundreds of prizes, which include silver bowls and trays, trophies, ribbons and special purchases orders for rose bushes.

Entries will be accepted May 10 from 7 to 10 a.m. A team of rose show officials will assist entrants to identify and place their roses in the proper classifications. The roses will be on display for public viewing May 10 from 1 to 6 p.m. and May 11 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Admission is free.

4-H MODELS — Girls who belong to 4-H clubs will have a dress revue Saturday at 1 p.m. at Pasadena City College. They will model clothes they made. Winners will be eligible to compete at a state dress revue next August.

SENIOR CITIZEN PROGRAM — Dr. Jessica Haskell, president of the After Stroke Resocialization, will be speaker at Pomona Council on Aging program Monday at 9:30 a.m. at the Pilgrim Congregational Church.

The topic will be "What Would YYou Do Should You Suffer a Stroke?" The public is invited.

NEW OFFICERS — C. Joseph Barfield, director of special projects for the Pomona Unified School District, has been elected president of the Phi Delta Kappa's Mt. San Antonio Field Chapter.

Other officers are Burdett Shearer, president-elect; Bruce Kitchen, vice president, membership; James Johnson, vice president, projects; Richard Boyd, secretary-treasurer; Ralph Taylor, historian; Bernie Hawkins and Allan Eisenwinter, board members.

They will be installed at a steak barbecue Wednesday at Mt. San Antonio College.

CMC conference to mull Mideast oil and politics

A conference on oil and politics in the Middle East will be held Monday at Claremont Men's College, Claremont.

The conference, open to the public, will begin at 10:30 a.m. in Bauer Forum.

According to Professor Sheikholeslami, lecturer in political science who is coordinating the event, a number of international authroties on Middle East oil and politics will present papers and participate in panel discussions.

At the beginning of the meeting, Malcolm Kerr, dean of social sciences at UCLA, will discuss "The Political Environment on Oil Negotiations in the Middle East."

The afternoon session will be held at 3 p.m. with Parviz Safi-Nia, counsel general of Iran, presiding.

VIEW PLANTS—Mrs. Romma Chavin, Mrs. Geraldine Waldman and Mrs. Roberta Waldman, from left, look over plants for luncheon and show scheduled by ORT group in Ontario, Saturday.

'Mother Earth' sets appearance

"Mrs. Mother Earth" (Lynn Rapp), author of "Hassle Free Plant Care," and a renowned television and radio personality, will be the guest auctioneer at an Organization for Rehabilitation through Training luncheon to be held Saturday at the Ontario Elks Club.

The social hour is set for 11 a.m. during the boutique showing. Luncheon and the auction will follow. Susan Koller will provide the entertainment.

"Mrs. Mother Earth" has appeared with her husband, Joel, on various shows including being guests of Dinah Shore and Mike Douglas. They are co-authors on two best-selling plant books which she will autograph at the luncheon.

Proceeds will be used to further the widening of the global ORT program of vocational education and training and continued development of plans to establish an ORT operational presence in this country.

Arts and crafts will be displayed by Mmes. Ellen Berke, Isabel Louis, Ethel Grossman, Cookie Daytz, Ronna Chavin, Trudy Sackey, Holly Fenning, Nancy Ambrose, Laura Rosenthal, Karen Rosenthal, March Priebe, Judy Briggs, Ferrel Salen, Nadine Milistine, Linda Absler, Sheila Waldman, Marsha Gould and Bunny Ross. Information on the event may be obtained by calling Mrs. Waldman, 624-8907.

Foot, Fiddle group meets

The Foot 'n' Fiddle Square Dance Club will meet for dancing at 8 p.m. Saturday at the La Verne Community Center, 1550 Bonita Ave.

Kenny McNabb is the caller. Mr. and Mrs. Leo Crosby will teach the round of the month. Visitors will be welcome.

Latest neckwear

A new and attractive trend in neckwear is the rope-wrapped scarf. Fold a square scarf into a triangle then fold the two points opposite the fold down toward the fold so the scarf forms an oblong. Twist the scarf several times until it's a rope-like coil. Tie this around your neck, using a square knot leaving the ends free.

Claremont sues county, developer in tract dispute

The city of Claremont has filed suit against Los Angeles County and developer Roger Wheeler because the county did not require an environmental impact report on a 10-acre, 29-home tract Wheeler proposes to build at the northwest corner of Base Line Road and Mills Avenue.

Superior Court Judge Paul Egly will conduct a hearing May 16 when the county must show cause why it should not withdraw approval of the tentative tract map and require a report.

In the suit, the city is concerned with adverse environmental impacts that could occur from installation of septic tanks where leakage "will adversely affect the water quality of the city," and the fact that the county did not require street lighting, sidewalks and the widening of Mills Avenue or Base Line Road, or storm drain facilities.

The city contends the proposed tentative tract map designed as a residential planned development with 10,000 square-foot lots does not conform to the Claremont general plan, and, as proposed could "increase the nitrates in the local water supply."

The city in the suit said the county has proceeded "without or in excess of their jurisdiction, has committed prejudicial abuses of discretion, has denied the petitioner a fair hearing," and county decisions are not supported by evidence and are contrary to state law.

Claremont City Manager Norman King said the county doesn't have its own ordinance of appeal, but goes by state law, that the county notified the city that its appeal was not filed in time, nor was it filed properly.

King said the city wants only that an environmental impact report be filed, and that it be allowed to attend a hearing on the report.

The county regional planning commission approved the tentative tract map March 26, and an exempt declaration of the impact report was filed with the county clerk's office March 31.

City Planning Director Don King in a declaration said he notified the county of the city's objection to the tract map March 3 and later notified the county that the city protested an exempt declaration.

King said development of houses on lots averaging 10,000 square feet "cannot help but downgrade the quality of the existing neighborhood."

He explained the Claremont General Plan calls for single-family lots of not less than 13,000 square feet in that area.

King said development of the property across Base Line Road from the city of Claremont, will impose a surface drainage burden upon the city which would be required to subsidize the tract by constructing storm drain facilities without the ability of assessing the parcel for its fair share.

"It is well known," King said, "that quantities of nitrates in the local drinking water presently exceed state safety standards unless it is mixed with water imported from other locations, which is now the case."

King said it is also well-known that septic systems directly increase the mount of nitrates in the local water supply and will depreciate the local water quality.

King noted the street widths on the tentative tract map are adequate, but that the entire quarter section should be master-planned.

He asked the county to require all street improvements — including Base Line Road and Mills Avenue — with street lighting and utilities undergrounded.

King stressed the tract map depicts eight lots which have street frontage on the back and well as on the front, which would create substandard living conditions.

"We recommend that the county insist on a subdivision design which will not lend itself to physical and social diseconomics due to inadequate design," King said.

In 1972, the county rezoned 650 acres of flat land north of Base Line Road within the Claremont sphere of influence from A-1 15,000 square-foot lots to Residential Planned Development 10,000-square-foot lots which would allow 5.1 homes per acre.

The city strongly protested the rezoning.

Viet students at Poly wait, wonder

Out of 30 youths, only one knows where his family is

Only one of the 30 Vietnamese students currently attending Cal Poly Pomona has had any word from his family, according to student body president Joe Armendarez.

"One of the students has received a short-wave message from Guam, but that's about all I know," he added.

None of the students has had any contact with the refugees who have arrived in Southern California to date, added Armendarez who is serving as spokesman for the Vietnamese students. Because of the concern for their families at this point, the youths do not want to be identified.

Armendarez said Thursday afternoon that the students asked his help in setting up a meeting today. He quoted one as saying "We need to decide our future."

John Berne, foreign student adviser at the University, said "We are working through the Red Cross to attempt to establish contact with families of the students."

Most of the students at the university are from around the Saigon area. Because of the extreme confusion which has surrounded the capture of the city and the evacuation of refugees, communication is impossible, he added.

"But we know that refugees have scattered to all parts of the world. In fact, many are probably still bobbing around on boats.

"We understand that an armada of boats floated out to sea in the last few hours before the fall of Saigon. These refugees will be landing on the shores of ajdacent countries for some time," Berne said.

The Vietnamese students recently raised $3,000 at a festival to help with refugee relief.

"While the students are really in financial trouble because, naturally, their funds have been cut off, they have not even considered using this money for themselves," Armendarez said.

The students are faced with having to have fees for the summer quarter term within the next few weeks, the spokesman said. Summer and fall registrations are now underway at the university.

While at this point, there has been no official word from the state or federal government about waiving fees or financial assistance, the U.S. Immigration Department has given permission for the students to seek work.

Berne pointed out that being able to work will help the young men and women a great deal.

"They have a real capacity for getting along on very little and are extremely industrious," Berne said. "We are confident that, given a little help, they will all manage."

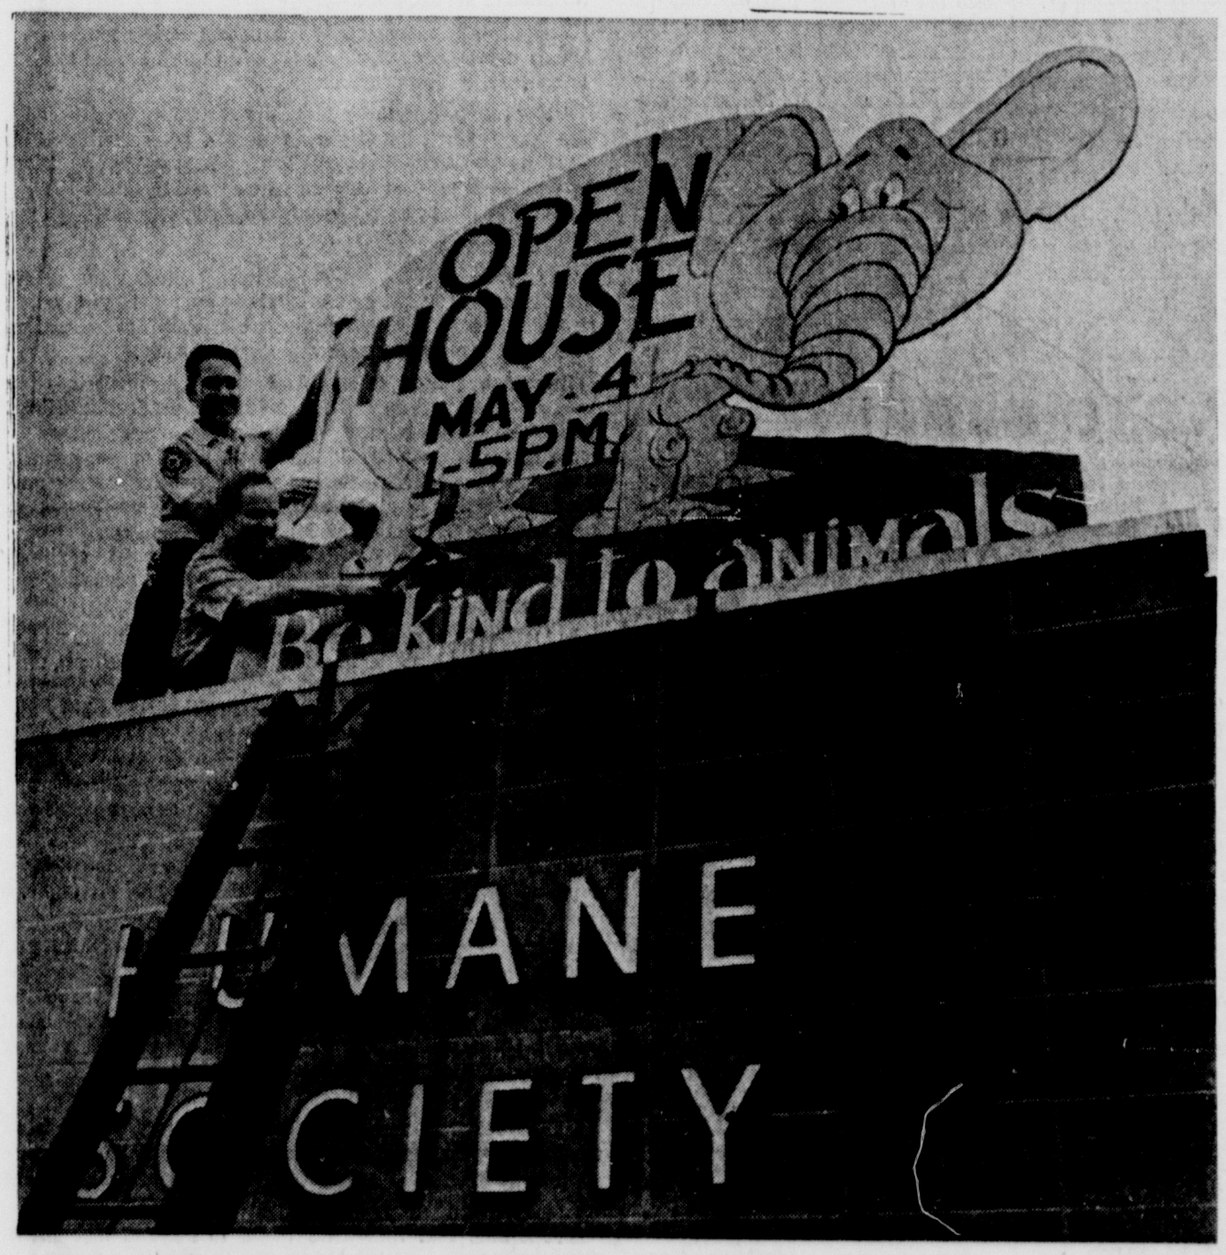

Berne called the Vietnamese students at Cal Poly "an extremely brilliant group whose academic performance is superior."

Armendarez said that Rep. Jim Lloyd, D-25th Dist., had been in contact with him and is seeking refugee aid for the students under the same act which earlier provided assistance to Cuban students facing similar circumstances.

Chino Civic Center takes step forward

Construction of a new city hall and police station in the Chino Civic Center moved forward Thursday when bids were received for the two structures.

The Berney Construction, Inc., of Irvine, submitted the apparent low bid of $2,946,683. This was slightly below the city's estimate of $2,607,000. Eight bids were received, which ranged up to $2,371,000.

City officials said bonds must be sold to finance the projects before the City Council is asked to formally award the contract. Construction, however, is expected to be started this summer, with completion taking about one year.

The city and county will share the 15-acre civic center located between Central Avenue and Sixth Street and Chino Avenue and D Street. The county also plans to begin next summer construction of a two-story building with 44,800 square feet of floor space to house two Municipal Court rooms plus offices for other county agencies. The county estimates its cost at $1.6 million.

The two-story city hall will have 42,800 square feet of floor space, which includes the basement. The building will be constructed with concrete block and a Spanish stucco finish and tile roof.

The entrance will be extended to the full two-story height and will be highlighted by hanging planters. A stairwell leading to the second story offices will be located in the main floor lobby.

The one-story police station will have 28,000 square feet of space. Its basement will house three holding cells for prisoners, locker rooms, communication center, and a "shelled in" area for a future pistol range and gymnasium.

The structure will also have a 60-foot overhead security corridor connecting the police station with the county court building.

Office, lobby area, briefing and assembly rooms will be located on the main floor, said officials.

Colton firm submits lowest bid for Devore Fwy. work

A Colton firm has apparently been successful in winning a contract to build a 3.5 mile section of the Devore Freeway near San Bernardino.

Matich Constructors Thursday submitted a low bid of $4,478,726, which was $1.4 million less than the state's estimate. Four bids were received, which ranged up to $5,152,254.

The project includes three miles of eight-lane roadway plus two bridges between San Sevaine Road and Sierra Avenue.

The bids will be sent to Sacramento for formal awarding. Actual construction may begin within the next several months.

With this awarding, all segments of the Devore Freeway between the Barstow and San Bernardino freeways will have been completed, under construction or contracted, said officials.

The 15 mile segment is expected to be completed by early 1977. This will reduce by 20 miles the distance for motorists going to Las Vegas or the desert communities by by-passing San Bernardino.

Officials, however, hope to open a three mile segment between Foothill Boulevard and the new four level interchange at the San Bernardino Freeway by November. The interchange, near the Ontario Motor Speedway, was completed last month. It is open for motorists using Rochester or San Bernardino avenues.

Construction of a bridge to span railroad tracks south of the San Bernardino Freeway interchange may be started later this year. Officials said they expect to advertise for bids next August.

This would be followed next year with construction of another major interchange where the Devore Freeway will intersect with the Pomona Freeway.

Two men hurt cutting up drum

Two men were injured Wednesday afternoon when a 55-gallon drum they wre cutting with acetelyne torches exploded at the CM Co., 13925 Benson Ave. in Chino.

Allen Worley, 22, Upland, suffered injuries of the left hand and leg, and Laurence Spalding, 51, of La Mirada, suffered an injury of the right hand. Both men wre treated at Chino General Hospital and later released.

Chino fire Inspector Forrest Alderman said they were using torches to cut off the tops of 55-gallon drums. They cut the top from one without incident. But as they were cutting the second drum top, it exploded. The top of the drum blew off, hitting the men in the arms and knocking them to the ground.

Alderman said that only two days before the explosion he had visited the welding company. There he cautioned workers to take care in cutting off the top of the metal drums.

It's open home time for Valley Humane Society

The Humane Society of Pomona Valley will mark National Be Kind to Animals Week with an open house Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m.

The event will include tours of the society's shelter at Mission Boulevard and Humane Way in Pomona, plus farm animal exhibits and milking and horse care demonstrations.

Participating in the program will be students from Mt. San Antonio College, the Pomona Valley 4-H Club, the Pomona Kiwanis Club, volunteers from Brea High School, and employes of the society.

Animals at the shelter will be up for adoption during the event and all of Be Kind to Animals Week, May 4 to 11. Last year 94 pets were adopted during the week.

Bruce Richards, executive director of the society, said the shelter always has a wide variety of dogs and cats, including many animals with pedigrees and a few with obedience training.

Average adoption fee is $8 for dogs and $3 for cats, with a spay deposit required for any unaltered female.

During 1973-74, the shelter handled over 19,600 unwanted pets.

Regular shelter hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Man shoots self in head in suicide

Jule Wayne Leabo, 56, of 942 Napa St., Ontario, died Thursday night of what Ontario police said was a self-inflicted gunshot wound of the head.

Leabo, according to police reports, was lying down in a bedroom of his home when his wife heard the gun go off. The woman entered the bedroom and found her husband critically wounded on the bed.

Leabo was rushed to San Antonio Community Hospital for emergency treatment but died a short time later.

Man arrested in kidnap, beating of teen-age girl

A 28-year-old Altadena man was arrested Wednesday as a suspect in the kidnap beating and stabbing of a 12-year-old San Marino girl on Monday.

He was identified by officials as Michael Craig Sain. He was held on $200,000 bond.

Sain was arrested by sheriff's deputies after seen driving a car matching the description given by the victim on Monday. She was released in Azusa.

The girl, whose identity was not released, was abducted while waiting for a ride at her church following a girl Scout meeting.

She had been beaten and stabbed in the neck, but was not sexually attacked.

Deputies said they found blood stains in the back seat of Sain's car and later discovered other unspecified evidence at the suspect's home.

Opinion

Less government is our only hope

A Washington columnist recently observed that while there was widespread unemployment throughout the nation, in the nation's capital the situation was just the opposite. The federal payroll was growing instead of shrinking. There was no joblessness among the bureaucracy.

There's only one conclusion. Government has grown too big. In Washington, at the state, county and local levels. The reason for inflation is not so much higher prices. Taxes took more of a bite last year than the cost of food, clothing and other necessities.

If we are going to lick inflation it has to start with government — less government. One of the places we can start is with the proposed Los Angeles County budget. Announced this week, it would raise the county tax rate by 40 cents to its highest point in history. Ridiculous, in the face of the economy.

We recommend that the Board of Supervisors refuse to even look at this budget until the department heads come up with new figures that reflect those that are consistent with our present day economy.

Sure it means fewer services. But until we as taxpayers are willing to accept the fact that our only salvation is to reduce government at all levels, the day is near at hand when half of the people will be working to support the other half on the public payroll.

Will the whalers get the message?

Since world's fairs are chancy business ventures at best, the fact that an international exhibition called EXPO '75 is scheduled to throw open its turnstiles next July on Okinawa (Okinawa?) is either a sign that good times are returning or else that things are worse than we thought, so why not try a fair? Maybe it'll play in the Ryukyus.

Be that as it may, this particular fair, which will run from July 20, 1975 to Jan. 18, 1976 and is expected to draw two million visitors, has been officially sanctioned by the Bureau of International Exhibitions in Paris as a "special fair" dealing with the oceans.

With the formal title of the International Ocean Exposition and the theme, "The Sea We Would Like To See," EXPO '75, says the Japan Trade Council, "will be a celebration of the largesse of the oceans that surround us as well as a sober examination of the problems threatening the well-being and productivity of the seas."

The irony will be immediately apparent to conservationists. Japan and the Soviet Union are the only two countries still engaged in the large-scale devastation of the world's diminishing whale population. The Japanese say they have to do it to feed their people. The Russians do it because — well, since they are not capitalists, they must have a good reason.

So far, no amount of international pressure, pleading or propaganda has convinced the two that the more whales that are "harvested" from fewer and smaller herds, the sooner will come the time when there are no more huntable herds, and maybe no whales at all, whether to eat or to admire or just to think about.

And that is the kind of sea no one should want to see.

According to the Japan Trade Center, the latest technologies enabling man not only to harvest minerals, protein and power from the sea "but also to maintain the delicate ecological balance of the oceans" will be presented by the various exhibitors at the Okinawa fair.

All whale buffs will ardently hope that the Japanese prove to be the most attentive patrons of EXPO '75.

Thoughts for today

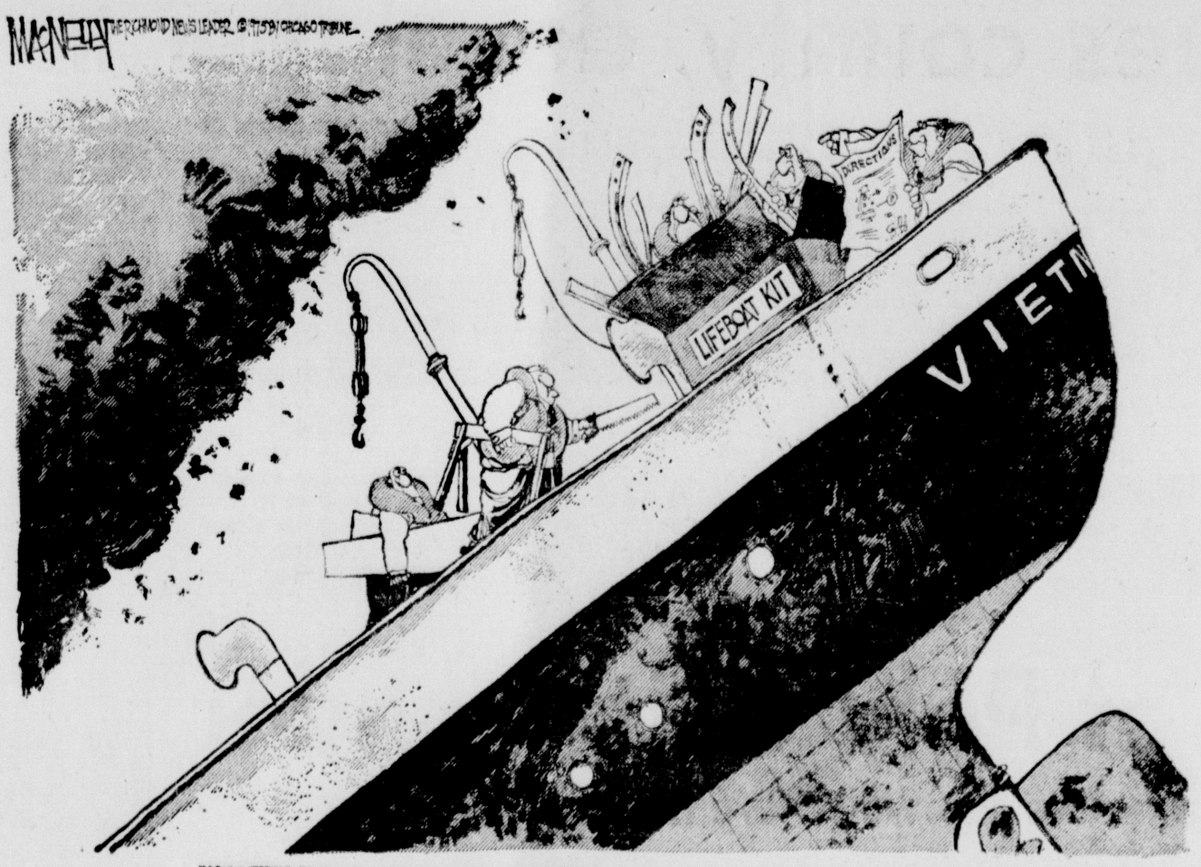

My soul thirsts for God, for the living God. When shall I come and behold the face of God? My tears have been my food day and night, while men say to me continually, "Where is your God?" — Psalm 42:2,3.

"How narrow our souls become when absorbed in any present good or ill! It is only the thought of the future that makes them great." — Jean Paul Richter, German author.

"Judge not, that you be not judged. For with the judgment you pronounce you will be judged, and the measure you give will be the measure you get." — Matthew 7:1.

"One man's word is no man's word; we should quietly hear both sides." — Johann Goethe, German dramatist.

Science refutes evolutionists

Deputy Atty. Gen. Edmund E. White talks about scientific laws at work in evolution.

I would like for him to name one scientific law which supports the theory of evolution.

Two of the most reliable scientific laws refute the evolutionists. The first law of thermodynamics states that matter is neither created nor destroyed. Yet many evolutionists are theorizing that matter is being created at the fringes of an expanding universe . . . The second law of thermodynamics states that in an open system (which the universe is) energy and matter will become more and more diffused, more random, and more disintegrated. But evolutionists maintain that things get better and better by random selections of nature.

Consequently it is easier to find a needle in a haystack than it is to find an evolutionist who will debate a creationist on the scientific merits of evolution vs. creation.

I know of no scientific law which supports the evolution theory, and so, in fact, evolution is a religion because it has to be accepted on faith by way of vague, imaginary hypotheses.

So, if as Edmund E. White says, "Under the law all religions are to be treated equally" then why is he giving special preference to the religion of evolution?

It's terrifying to realize that such utter ignorance is too prevalent in high levels of government. Is it any wonder that turmoil and confusion reigns in such ungodly governments. — Clayton Stanhope, Pomona.

U.S. leadership

The letter written by a former marine (saying that he finds it an embittering experience to see all that the Armed Forces fought for in Vietnam being written off by Congress) should make us think a little. We should re-evaluate our country's so-called "leadership." During the past ten years, thousands of American servicemen gave their lives or were wounded in the struggle for certain "key military objectives" which now have suddenly become unimportant. The many skirmishes and battles that we read about were obviously not even necessary. These men were led to believe that our nation's security depended on the prevention of a communist takeover in Southeast Asia. Now, suddenly and almost mysteriously, it doesn't seem to matter anymore. Isn't it strange how the politicians can turn our wars off and on so easily, as though they were watching movies on T.V.? However, this one may be the late, late one — perhaps a little too late! — Edward E. Noble, La Verne.

JACK ANDERSON

Sorry Henry, but we're alright

WASHINGTON — Speaking candidly behind closed doors, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger recently tried to assess the news shocks which have jolted the nation.

He cited the Watergate horror, the economic nosedive, the breakdown of Arab-Israeli negotiations and, finally, the collapse of anti-Communist forces in Cambodia and Vietnam.

"We are close," pronounced Kissinger, "to a national nervous breakdown."

We disagree.

You see, we've been receiving thousands of letters each week from the people who make up this country. They have been shaken by the setbacks, it's true. Many are disillusioned and discouraged. For them, the high and pure and good in America has become blurred.

But it is unmistakably clear from their letters that the United States has suffered a Dunkirk, not a Waterloo. The spirit of America, as expressed in more than 750,000 letters, is depressed but not deflated.

The Americans who have been writing to us don't want their leaders to become obsessed with futile regrets, excessive remorse or divisive recriminations. The prevailing view, according to our massive mail, is that there has been enough mourning and lamenting over past wrongs.

The majority of our letter writers, although they don't want the lessons of the past to be forgotten, believe that our focus should be forward, not backward. "Let's go America," urges Richard G. Brine, a Moriches, N.Y., postal worker, in a typical letter.

The mail we have amassed, we believe, is the best available measure of the mood of America. It began flooding in after we suggested that our Bicentennial slogan should come from the people, not the government. We invited our readers to search for the right words to express their feelings about America.

We have been absolutely deluged with letters containing slogans, songs, poems, reminiscenses — an outpouring of sentiment from the hearts of the people. The overwhelming majority of the responses have been thoughtful and sincere, not chauvinistic or cynical.

Our offices became so swamped with slogans that we had to arrange a separate mailing address. Please send your slogans to SLOGANS USA, Box 1976, Washington, D.C. And send your songs to The American Song Festival, 5900 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif., 90036.

As evidence of how Americans feel deep down about their country, we have picked out a few letters at random from the 750,000 accumulation.

"When this country was cut from the wilderness," writes Floyd A. Smith, a retired Rockingham, N.C., railroad worker, "all men were equal because of their need for each other . . . Over the years, we have become unequal — politically, economically and socially . . . . So I must ask my Country to restore Equality."

More on the Veeptrap

"The opportunities afforded by the vice presidency, particularly the presidency of the Senate, do not come—they are to be seized . . . Here is one instance in which it is the man who makes the office, not the office the man."—Harry Truman.

———

We were discussing the Veeptrap not long ago, and whether Nelson Rockefeller could avoid the political frustrations that attend holding the second highest office in the land. A progress report on same:

There was a kiss-and-make up colloquy in the Senate chamber last week, with Rockefeller making a public apology to members of the world's greatest deliberative body for his having run roughshod over the parliamentary rights of Sen. James Allen and other filibuster supporters during the recent debate on Rule 22.

The apology was a shrewd, if obvious, move on Rockefeller's part, one calculated to reduce the chill factor surrounding the Vice President on Capitol Hill; though, whatever his personal effort at bonhomie in the chamber of the cloak room, the former New York governor will never really be accepted as a member of the Senate inner club.

The reason, of course, is that unlike such Democratic Vice Presidents as Truman, Barkley, Johnson, and Humphrey, Rockefeller is and will always be regarded as an interloper on the Hill, as was his predecessor-once-removed, Spiro Agnew.

For a few innocent months after he came to Washington in 1969 from the governor's mansion in Annapolis, Agnew, like Rockefeller now, made a special effort to "seize" the opportunities Truman wrote of. However, the Marylander succeeded only in ruffling feathers, the most notable being those of Sen. Len Jordan of Idaho.

Agnew made the grievous error of inquiring—not advising, merely asking—how Jordan planned to vote on the ABM issue then coming before the Senate. The Idaho Republican, whom Agnew had mistakenly believed to be on his side of the political fence, went straight through the Capitol dome, charging the Vice President with gross executive interference in the Senate's deliberative process.

Agnew insisted that he meant no harm, but the damage was done. His reaction was as typical of the Agnew stiffbacked personality as was Rockefeller's apology reflective of his more pliable approach to the political game. Nixon's first Vice President thereafter turned his back on the Hill, spending 99 per cent of his official time carrying out White House assignments. He came to the Senate only when there was a chance his vote might be needed to break a tie.

Rockefeller, as noted, has a greater capacity for political humble-pie eating under strained circumstances. But the incumbent Veep also knows that no matter how hard his effort, there is no way he can play an important role shaping events on Capitol Hill.

Rocky shares one common disability with Agnew: he came through the political ranks on the executive side. The arcane mysteries of U.S. Senate ritual are not for such men, regardless of what club member Truman believed.

But the evidence grows that Rockefeller, if frustrated on the Hill, is no less frustrated performing his chores at the executive end of Pennsylvania Avenue.

This has been reflected by Rocky's newfound habit of delivering himself of ad-hoc pronouncements on policy matters, which the White House has later clarified or called on the Vice President to clarify. Students of the Hubert Humphrey-Spiro Agnew vice presidential years will recognize the syndrome.

It was reflected, too, in a pointed way, by the offhand reply Rockefeller gave a reporter, en route home from Chiang Kai-shek's funeral, to a question about the Vice President's future assignments from the White House. It all depends, snapped Rocky, on what head of state may die next.

Thus, despite the placement of key Rockefeller men in domestic policy-making roles at the White House, it seems that the Vice President himself, who for a decade and a half fed his political appetite on executive decision-making in Albany, is increasingly unhappy with the empty ceremonial calories fed him as "the President's man."

So has it always been with men caught in that peculiar American political contraption, the Veeptrap. But Rockefeller will persevere, of that we can be sure. That is the lure of the Veeptrap after all: that what today are empty calories may tomorrow be a full-course banquet.

J. K. (DOC) PEIRSOL

Just in jest

It wasn't always thus! Once life was blissfully free from this modern age's frustrations. Yes, believe it or not, there was a time when we didn't have to worry because the trash collectors refused to cart away the long palm fronds we had failed to cut to the proper length and tie in bundles. In the good old days we just burned the danged things and had done with them. — Those were surely the best of times.

One didn't have to suffer through such tragedies as answering the telephone only to hear a click as someone cautiously replaced the receiver. We never experienced the financial disaster of inserting a quarter into a vending machine only to have it fail to deliver the merchandise.

But most of all what made those olden days a time beyond compare was that we were never subjected to that totally lost feeling which comes over modern man when a bathroom toilet refuses to flush. The good old family 3-holer down the primrose path from the kitchen door was always in working order.

RONALD REAGAN

Crises breed new bureaucrats

Big government breeds bigger government — especially in times of crisis. That has become a truism. And, the best recent example of this is the so-called energy crisis with which the United States has been beset for the last two years. Efforts to cope with the "crisis" have bred new agencies at both the state and federal levels. Unfortunately, new agencies mean more than just adding bureaucrats and additional budgets to the cost of government. They also mean new rules, regulations and controls, all part of the self-justification process for continuation of the agencies.

Sadly, long experience shows that these seldom meet expectations and the good they do is not often worth the cost, either in dollars or in loss of freedom.

A few months ago the influential and wealthy Ford Foundation issued the results of a three-year, $4 million study called "A Time To Choose America's Energy Future." It was hailed by various experts, government officials and members of Congress for pointing the way toward a logical, long-range energy policy for the United States.

But does it really?

A closer look and a careful analysis produced by a small, new foundation, the Institute for Contemporary Studies, in San Francisco, takes sharp issue with the Ford study.

Trenchantly titled "No Time To Confuse," the analysis is the work of 10 highly respected economists and political scientists. What it concludes is that the Ford study merely offers us more of the same kind of "solutions" that big government advocates have been handing us all along: controls over production, distribution and prices; mandatory guidelines; and proposals that aim not at finding and developing enough energy sources to allow America to be independent and to continue to grow and expand, but rather at limiting energy consumption and controlling how each one of us uses it.

In fact, "No Time To Confuse" finds that the authors of "A Time To Choose" are more interested in presenting their own views of how they think the world should be than they are in developing an energy policy that will function well within the framework of our free enterprise system. Prof. M. Bruce Johnson, in his segment of "No Time To Confuse," charges bluntly that the Ford study is no more than "a vehicle for the authors' views on income redistribution and environmental action."

But even worse, in the view of Prof. William H. Riker, is the kind of ideology that motivates the authors of the Ford study.

"This kind of ideology is used to justify the existence of a planned society which works, if it works at all, only in the context of a police state. Much of the ordinary workaday life would have to be made illegal to force society to make fuel conservation the highest priority. We could make 'energy conservation a matter of the highest national priority' as the report urges Congress to do, but the kind of life for which we conserved it would not be very attractive."

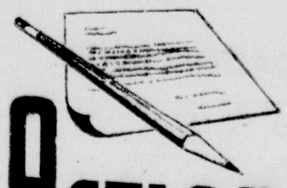

Like his fellow authors of "No Time To Confuse," Riker is a master of understatement. What the authors of the Ford study seem to be looking toward is a society where everything that isn't prohibited is compulsory.

Isn't it time that Americans began to demand that their government leaders seek solutions that liberate us rather than control us? Apparently, the Ford Foundation "experts" don't think so.

Shape up, ship out, if you'd like trip by boat

I would like to find out what ship line offers a combination of freight and passenger means of transportation.

Back during the depression in the 1930s, my father, now deceased, used this means of transportation between Los Angeles and San Francisco at a much cheaper price than was available anywhere else. — H. F., Pomona.

That means of travel is no longer offered between Los Angeles and San Francisco, we are told by Bob Smith, manager of World Travel Service of Pomona.

But he said that if you have a coastal trip, rather than a specific destination in mind, you may travel that way by the Prudential Grace Lines between Los Angeles and Vouncouver, B.C.

In January I applied at Mt. San Antonio College for Veterans Administration subsistence.

I was told since I had applied in Washington, D.C., six months previously, it would take about six weeks for my first check to arrive.

At the end of the eighth week I had a tracer put on the claim. I was told I would receive my check in 10 to 15 days.

Today I called the veterans' affairs office at MSAC. I was told I would receive the check in four weeks.

My husband and I are facing financial hardship. — G. S., Rowland Heights.

We don't know whether it was coincidence or good vibes, but a check for $806.67 was sent out to you the day your letter reached us.

We can take no credit.

We are about to rent an apartment and a house and would like some hints which will help us avoid problems many of your readers have. — G. M., Montclair.

The state Department of Consumer Affairs urges you to take these precautions before signing a rental agreement:

Find out what repairs you will be responsible for and what repairs will be handled by the landlord.

Read the agreement carefully and be sure the responsibilities are stated clearly. Determine what will happen if you move before the agreement terminates and how much notice you must give before leaving.

Make sure you obtain a copy of the agreement and of any other regulations the landlord expects you to follow.

Find out the owner's name, address and phone number.

Before you move into an apartment, go through it thoroughly and make a list of all damage. Prepare the list in duplicate, date it and have the landlord sign both copies. Keep one copy for your own records.

While living in an apartment, remember you are usually responsible for damage beyond normal wear-and-tear. Needed repairs should be made as soon as possible.

When you move ask the landlord to go through the apartment in your presence to determine the damage, etc., he is going to charge against your refundable deposit.

Under California law, regardless of whether the deposit was called a cleaning, damage or rental deposit, a landlord may use it to pay back rent, but he must give back to you, within two weeks after you move out, any part of the deposit not used for these purposes.

Validity of the "non-refundable" renter deposit or fee presently being charged by many California landlords is in doubt, according to the department.

About this and that

The state of Vermont got its name from the French explorers who first saw the region in 1609 and called it Verd-mont (Green Mountain).

The rich grasslands of New Zealand's North Island support 40 million sheep, beef cattle, and dairy cows—roughly 20 head for every resident.

Locusts cannot fly until their body temperature reaches about 70 degrees F. The cool night air stiffens their muscles and they must bask in the sun before taking wing.

In most Apache tribes, the bridegroom went to live in his wife's community and all Apaches showed respect for a mother-in-law by never speaking to her.

ANN LANDERS

Don't remember the bum's kisses, but how he rearranged your teeth

Dear Ann Landers: I work in a hospital business office. Working with me is a girl I'll call Betsy.

Betsy supports her handicapped mother and I admire her for that. But I recently found out she has another job. She's a stripper at a downtown theater.

Since I learned about Betsy's other "career," I've been quite distant and she has noticed it. So have others. She's popular in this office and I've been taking some heat since I've cooled toward her. Should I tell them about Betsy's other "career?" I'd hate for people to think I'm a snob.—Quiet (So Far)

Dear Q.S.F.: Unless Betsy performs with a sack over her head, someone is sure to learn of her other "career." Keep quiet.

As for your coolness, that's your business. But I'll bet several others in that office wouldn't treat her differently if they knew.

Dear Ann Landers: Hey, you with all the good advice. I need help. I've been trying to "forget the bum" for two years. But whenever I run into him, that old pain starts gnawing at me again.

Forgetting is easier said than done. What do you suggest?—Remembering In Tucson.

Dear R: You're remembering the wrong things, honey. Instead of reliving the tender moments and the toothpaste-flavored kisses, think of the dentist bill after he rearranged your bridgework—the nights you walked the floor wondering where he was, and with whom. Recall exactly what it was that made you decide to "throw the bum out." Once you get your head REALLY straightened out, that old pain will be gone.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I invited some out-of-town friends to visit us for the weekend. We have no extra bedroom and told them we'd make reservations at a motel.

I couldn't think of the name of the motel, so I called directory assistance and told the operator my problem. She said (in a very stuckup voice), "I'm sorry, but it is impossible for me to give you the number if you don't have the name of the place."

I told her I'd recognize the name if I heard it, and asked her to please read off the list of motels. Her reply was, "Why don't you look in the telephone book?"

I didn't need HER to tell me THAT. I thought the telephone company was supposed to provide service.

We pay our phone bills every month and it wouldn't kill them to help a customer in trouble by putting themselves out a little.—T'D Off In Birmingham

Dear T'D: Do you have any idea how many motels there are in Birmingham? Information operators should not be expected to read off lists. Your request was unreasonable.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you had a letter in your column from a secretary who said she wouldn't dream of calling her boss (chairman of the board of a major oil company) by his first name. I hope that square dame saw the results of a national survey reported by a wire service recently.

It revealed that 95 per cent of the 500 bosses questioned said they preferred to be called by their first names.

Age differences between employers and employes were not a major factor. The five per cent who objected to first names were physicians and lawyers.

How do you like them apples?—Gotcha

Dear G.: The apples are fine — it's the survey I question. I don't know who those 500 bosses were, but I did a little survey of my own and my findings were as follows: 80 per cent of the bosses were quite adamant. They preferred to be called "Mr." or "Dr.," "Mrs." or "Miss." (P.S. Not one said "Ms."!)

It's not always easy to recognize love, especially the first time around. Acquaint yourself with the guidelines. Read Ann Landers's booklet, "Love or Sex and How To Tell the Difference." For a copy, mail 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

Can Yankee ingenuity do it again?

"The Yanks are coming!"

This war cry that brought terror to the Boche in 1918 has been revived as the 1975 major league baseball season opens with a revitalized and refurbished New York Yankee team, still "boarding out" at nearby Shea Stadium, posing an ominous threat to the peace and security of the American League East.

(Organ music up.) The question of the day is "Can an average baseball team find happiness with a $3.5 million pitcher and an outfielder who hits 30 homeruns and steals 30 bases a year?"

As you know, unless you have been frozen in a glacier for the past few years, the Bronx Bombers, who didn't do at all badly last year, have added to their armory Catfish Hunter, ex-Oakland A's right-hander who has more wins than Casey Stengle has wrinkles, and bouncing Bobby Bonds, an outfielder who recognizes nothing less than doubles — if you walk him, he'll steal second. The Yanks took a Giant-size step toward the flag with Mr. B.

All the experts predicted a pennant for the new New York Yankees. All the experts were delighted when they fell on their face coming out of the chute and compiled a two-week record of 1-6 and a firm grip on last place. Catfish floundered three times; Bond started on a new strikeout record.

But it's a long, long summer, and pinstripe aficionados are not downhearted. Class will tell. Take a close contender and add a 20-game winner and a power hitter, and it's Katie, bar the door!

It's not easy to be a Yankee fan as my friend Pete Foley will tell you. He's president of the Southern California Yankee Club, 10657 La Alondra Ave., Fountain Valley 92708.

The Yankees won so big and so often, from the day in 1919 when they bought Babe Ruth from the Red Sox for $100,000, until as recently as 1964, that cheering for them was like rooting for U. S. Steel. A farvid anti-Yank cult grew, flourished in the pennant-after-pennant days of the DiMaggios and Mantles, and didn't even die out completely when the once-mighty pinstripers finished dead last a few years ago.

The road back has been a long one, but in the words of our great and glorious ex-leader, "There is light at the end of the tunnel." Gone are the Gehrigs, Dickeys, Lazzaeris, Rolfes, Crosettis, Gordons, Ruffings and Gomezes of the past, but rising like a phoenix from their ashes are new sluggers, new pitching wizards, new infield sleight-of-hand artists. Ring out the old, ring in the new.

The Yankees are back on center stage and the ghost of the Yankee Clipper will arise again.

LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

Did operation cause his impotency?

DEAR DR. LAMB — About two years ago I had a prostate gland operation through the urethra. Since that time I have become impotent. Is that a result of the operation?

I have read that testosterone can be given to overcome it. Would it help? Does it swell the remaining prostate and cause more trouble to develop? Is anything better in the hormone line that can be taken to remove the impotency?

DEAR READER — There are many causes of impotency. Some young men have it on a psychological basis, often from inexperience and lack of confidence.

Impotence can also be caused by many other medical problems besides psychological factors. Diabetes is a classic example. By affecting the nerves necessary to a response, impotence develops. For a more complete discussion of impotence write to me in care of this newspaper at P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019, and ask for my report on impotence. Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents to cover costs.

About half of American men at age 75 are impotent. This may have something to do with our living habits that result in fatty cholesterol deposits that in turn affect the male sex organs as well as causing heart attacks and strokes. It follows that about half of men in this age group are not impotent.

A gradual decline in male hormone levels can contribute to impotence. However, men with relatively low male hormone levels often function well, so it is not just a matter of hormones in every case. When a man has had some unsatisfactory experiences and loses his confidence then he may get over his lack of confidence just by the faith he has in any medicine he takes, whether that is bark of a so-called magical tree or male sex hormones. The brain is a very important factor in performance. Older men can lose confidence, too, just as well as younger men. Loss of sexual capacity in both men and women is often a sign of depression. This is one more reason why a person at any age with this symptom needs medical attention.

It often happens that men who are in the age group to need prostate surgery are also in the age group when impotence is more common. The impotence then may follow surgery, not because of the operation, but because it was going to happen anyway. There is a very low incidence of impotence after the type of prostate surgery that you have had.

Doctors are reluctant to give much male hormone to men who are in the age group to develop cancer of the prostate or those who have already had some form of prostate difficulty.

It is true that if there really is a deficiendy in male hormone that giving testosterone may help. Whether that is a wise course of action depends entirely on the total medical picture.

Whether you need testosterone or something else depends on the cause of the impotence. If you have poor circulation to your sexual organs then taking testosterone will not correct the problem. If your problem is from underlying diabetes then male hormone is useless. In such cases the male hormone production may be entirely normal, it is the nerves that don't work. And, if it is psychological you might get psychic benefit, but you could get that from sugar pills.

Time and training often help men return to an active sex life, particularly when they have a problem in loss of confidence.

Chicken official bird in two states

Maybe you were aware that the cardinal has been designated by more states as their official bird than any other fowl. But can you name the two states which identify the chicken as their official bird? The Rhode Island Reds of Rhode Island, of course. And the Blue Hen chicken of Delaware, too.

SUICIDES

Q. "Is there any one weeknight in particular when the most people commit suicide?"

A. Can only report the statistics out of the Los Angeles Suicide Prevention Center. Wednesday is the peak night there, it's said.

Q. "What musicals have won the Academy Award as best picture of the year?"

A. Can think of five. "An American in Paris," "Gigi," "West Side Story," "My Fair Lady" and "The Sound of Music."

PLEASE don't forget what old Abe Lincoln said about fighting: "Quarrel not at all. No man resolved to make the most of himself can spare the time for personal contentions. Better give your pants to a dog than be bitten by him."

CLASSIFIED

In that matter of fancy classified ads, here's one that turned up some time back in Seattle: "Our pet terrier slipped her chain and so we're peddling pups again. Cockers? Bulldogs? German Shepherds? For all we know they may be leopards." John W. Holmes wrote that.

BERNICE BEDE OSOL
For Saturday, May 3

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This will be a very pleasant day for you socially. You'll be especially noted and admired by members of the opposite sex.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're much in tune at this time with persons of influence. A good day to press for a favor if you need one.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) That good news from a distance you've been awaiting is on its way. Check your mailbox and stay near the phone.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) One who cares a great deal for you but who is not very demonstrative will again do something nice for you today, in her own quiet way.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll make a favorable impression upon a new acquaintance because of the considerate methods you use in dealing with them.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A recently well-done job will not only give you a sense of achievement; your work will be noticed and admired by others, too.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You're likely to be in great social demand today. You're much more popular than you think.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A good day to make some last-minute calls to see if you can put together a little dinner party for a very select group of friends.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your quick wit and skill as a mediator will avert an altercation between two friends. You'll have them chuckling over what caused the tense situation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) There should be enough fat left over in the weekly budget to enable you to obtain a small luxury item you've long wanted.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You won't be happy today unless you break out of your shell. A night on the town or a social gathering will keep you up.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) There's still opportunity hovering about you from avenues you'd least expect. It could come as a gift from a loved one.

Your Birthday May 3

Your financial prospects for the coming year look very promising. Put a little away each week so you can build a nest egg for yourself.

United States Marines are often called "leathernecks."

They got this nickname because, in the early days, they wore black leather neckbands on their uniforms, presumably to protect their necks against enemy sabers and cutlasses.

The Marine Corps is the branch of the armed forces specially trained for duty aboard warships as well as on land.

The use of marines goes far back in history. The first seagoing soldiers sailed on King Solomon's galleys nearly 3,000 years ago. And sea soldiers served on the warships of Egyptians and ancient Greeks.

The United States Marine Corps was first organized in 1775 to help defend the American colonies during the American Revolution.

Today many countries, including the United States and Great Britain, have marines.

The traditional nickname for British marines is "bootneck," probably stemming from the same origin as the word "leatherneck."

Handyman's easy 4-poster bed

Douglas Sackfield, head of Simmons Mattress Co.'s interior design department, created this elegant 4-poster bed with an eye on the do-it-yourselfer.

Simple hand tools are all that is needed to create this masterpiece on which the family's seamstress and handyman can combine talents. Sackfield nailed moulding to the ceiling, then covered 2 by 4 boards with desired fabric and nailed them inside moulding.

Coordinated fabrics differing inside and out, were seamed together, hemmed, then stapled inside the 2 by 4s from the top. Coordinated bedspread caps the ensemble.

Garden safety advice

Gardening may not be all "hoe, hoe, hoe" if you're not careful this spring and summer.

Home gardeners are cautioned to beware when taking up arms with rake and hoe in preparation for their spring offensive against inflation at the dinner table.

Dr. David Goldfinger, medical consultant for Combined Insurance Company of America's Claims Department, warns that, "people who work in gardens, and particularly those using animal fertilizers, should be innoculated against tetanus for their own protection. The tetanus spore is found mainly in soil and is attracted to cuts and abrasions."

Combined's safety and research team also cautions gardeners to wear gloves for some protection against other infections or skin rashes which can also be contracted while working in the soil.

If you end up with a green thumb this summer, you might have to see your doctor.

Give Mom a living present

It's a rare Mother who isn't interested in living greenery.

Whether it is a foliage plant for indoor enjoyment, or a longed-for tree or shrub for her garden, a living gift plant is sure to please on Mother's Day, May 11.

UNUSUAL CONTAINERS — Wicker baskets, homemade wire mesh containers twigs glued together to make a container can be used as novel indoor plant holders. Stuffed with peat moss or Spanish moss, containers are attractive additions to inside decor.

From a practical standpoint, it's likely that she has been talking about planting a tree to provide shade and relief from the hot summer afternoon sun. What better time than Mother's Day to do something about it — instead of keeping on talking about planting a tree, into next winter? Can you imagine her delight with the gift — and the giver.

Indoor foliage plants add dramatic beauty to their surroundings, and highlight furnishings while serving as unique decorations. Perhaps this is the year that mom gets that Fiddle Leaf Fig, Piggyback, or the Boston Fern she's been wanting. Such items as a terrarium, or a hanging basket-type plant in an unusual container, are as beautiful as they are utilitarian.

Mothers who enjoy cooking gourmet meals will be thrilled to receive a gift selection of Herbs and Vegetables. Nurseries have small containers of these tasty plants; you can replant them in decorative pots to enjoy up close.

Shopping and browsing at a nearby nursery will reveal countless gift possibilities. Azaleas, Rhododendrons and Camellias are to be found in flower, in nursery containers, and this is an excellent time for planting says the California Association of Nurserymen. You'll also find blooming annual flowers in nursery pots. They will continue to provide color through the warm season. What cheerier sight than bright summer flowers to greet visitors and guests!

A new compost bin from England

GARBAGE IN TOP, COMPOST FROM BOTTOM 6 WEEKS LATER

A new compost bin from England, called the "Accelerator," converts cut grass, leaves, prunings, kitchen wastes — even sawdust and rags — into rich, natural fertilizer in a matter of weeks.

Attractive circular shape and natural green color of the bin also effectively make for an unobtrusive blending into a garden or patio ambience. It was cited in Britain by the Design Council for the Design Center, London, for its outstanding design.

The circular concept, based on scientific principles of heat generation, combined with a proper balance of air circulation and moisture, makes for perfect compost in as little as six weeks. Unlike ordinary compost-making methods, the heap need only be two to three feet across and outer peripheries decompose along with the center.

Thee "Accelerator" models are manufactured in England for Rotocrop (U.S.A.) Inc. The "18", for larger gardens, is 36 inches high, 34 inches across; weighs 22 lbs. and holds nearly 19 cu. ft. of compost. The "14", for smaller gardens, measures 36 x 27 inches, has a capacity of 44½ cu. Ft.

Four 1½-inch vents in each panel provide vital ventilation in proper degree without disturbing the balance of heat and moisture. In all models, the expanded metal grill which covers the ventilation channel under the base and provides for air circulation, is double-coated to resist corrosion.

A heavy gauge, inflatable PVC cover prevents heap from both drying out and being waterlogged. Tough molded studs retain the cover and lock panel joints.

Like wood, PVC has good heat-insulating properties. Unlike wood, it will not rot and will last for years.

The "Accelerator" serves both economy and ecology. The Rotocrop method utilizes vegetable and animal wastes and ferments them into the sweet smelling, crumbly and dark compost of balanced nutrients so conducive to exceptional gardens.

For the free booklet, "A Lof Of Rot On Gardens;; (a how-to on achieving rich, nourishing soil — fast), write Rotocrop (U.S.A.) Inc., 58 Buttonwood Street, New Hope, Pa. 18938.

Sales initially will be handled by mail order only.

Encourage birds to use your yard as their home

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Birds and trees were made for each other and both were made for bird-watcher people. Trees are for birds summer and winter. The trees provide shelter and the birds benefit trees by feeding on harmful bark insects.

Woodpeckers, one of the tree's best friends, pluck out borers and bark beetles.

The brown creeper searches for insects, beetles and grubs, digging them out of the bark, working up the tree spirally.

The house wren, cardinal, nuthatch, redstart, grosbeak, oriole, phoebe, chicadee and others dote on insects, moths, beetles and borers.

Warblers enjoy caterpillars, weevils, scale and plant lice.

Sparrows dine on insects and caterpillars, and birds eat wintering insect eggs.

A few birds may injure certain trees by drilling holes that could cause girdling and bleeding, but they also feed on the insects lured to the sap and entrapment.

Evergreens such as fir, pine and hemlock are sleeping and hiding places for finches, cardinals and mourning doves and other birds during snow and cold.

If you protect and feed birds in winter they'll visit and give you pleasure.

Climbing Cukes

You'll get more and better cucumbers from your plants if you grow them on trellises instead of on the ground. The fruit also have fewer defects.

Gardener's checklist

Set out plants of tomatoes, eggplant, peppers and lettuce this month.

Deep watering encourages deep roots. After watering, dig down and see how far the moisture has penetrated.

Set out annual flowers now for summer color. There are many to choose from, including Asters, Dwarf Dahlias, Petunias, Marigolds, Periwinkle, and Zinnias.

For a distinctive accessory, grow a Dwarf Citrus in a red wood tub on the sunny porch or patio.

Feed Azaleas and Camellias this month with an acid type plant food. Water them frequently during warm weather.

Here's the answer

Block walls, humidifiers, insulation

By ANDY LANG
Ap Newsfeatures

Q.—I intend to make a small wall of concrete blocks. I expect to use ready-mixed material for use between the blocks. Does this have to be the same mixture used for brickwork or can I use a concrete mix?

A.—Use the same kind of mortar mix you would use between bricks. A concrete mix contains too much heavy aggregate for that purpose. If you had to use something other than a mortar mix, you could use a sand mix. The presence of hydrated lime in a mortar mix is said to make it easier to handle and more adhesive.

Q.—Can I use penetrating resin to finish an old oak table which apparently never had a finish on it? Also, can wood with the resin finish on it be stained?

A.—Yes, the penetrating finish can be used on oak. However, it usually darkens the wood, so better test it first in an inconspicuous place to be sure it doesn't give you the effect you want without using a stain.

Q.—Our house has always been too dry. Recently, my son bought me a humidifier. It has worked wonders in eliminating the dryness, but now our living room picture window is often wet on the inside. Is the humidifier responsible for this?

A.—The wetness on the inside of the window is condensation, caused when warm, moist air settles on a cooler surface. What has happened in your case is that the humidifier is throwing out too much moisture, so that now your living room has too much humidity in it rather than too little. Most humidifiers have some kind of adjustment so that they will not turn on except when the dryness in the room reaches a certain level. Read the instructions that came with the humidifier to determine how it should be set or, if it is not automatic, how to keep the humidity at the proper level.

Q.—I am having insulating wool blown into one side of our house. The dealer suggests that, in the meanwhile, I repaint the inside wall. It doesn't really need it. Should I follow his advice?

A.—Didn't he explain that the purpose of the paint is to act as an extra vapor barrier so that moisture won't get through the wall and dampen the blown-in insulating material? Also, he should have told you (perhaps he did) that, for the paint to be effective as a vapor barrier, it must be of the vapor-resistant type. Be sure you get that kind and apply two coats, brushing it in well.

CABERNET by DREXEL is Country French as stunningly portrayed and authentically crafted as any luxury collection has ever been.

© 1974 Champion International

Here in one unexcelled collection, is the real luxury of Country French. Drexel designers and craftsmen have created a grouping of authentic designs that totally expresses the original styles of the period. Romantic, graceful, richly carved treasures that are reminiscent of the "Chateau" and "Villa" furniture rather than the more rustic character of the provincial cottages. This is the sophistication that can offer your home a mood and a look never before created in furniture of this era.

Deep mouldings, rare wood carvings, basket weave parquetry panels, which reflect the tapestried brickwork of the country manor are featured. So are pecan solids and veneers in addition to many painted treasures with accent striping.

When is furniture an investment, not just a purchase? You'll find out when you have Cabernet in your home.

Catholic prep teachers seek unionization

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Teachers want to unionize the 26 Catholic high schools in the Los Angeles archdiocese, organizers say.

The leaders said Wednesday that about 60 per cent of the 610 teachers had voted to form the United Catholic Secondary Teachers Assn. and to affiliate with the American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO.

Teachers, who indicated they were concerned about job security and wanted higher pay, said they had petitioned the National Labor Relations Board for an election among teachers to certify the union as its bargaining representative.

DUANE R. HELLUM of Chino has been promoted to assistant vice president of the Bank of America's office at Seventh and Flower streets in Los Angeles. He joined the training program in 1973 and had served as lending officer at the bank.

Cinco de Mayo play in Pomona

A Cinco de Mayo play will be presented by the Bilingual-Bicultural Education Program of Pomona Unified School District at the district auditorium, 800 S. Garey Ave., Sunday at 3 p.m.

Children from several Pomona schools will participate. The event is sponsored by the Bilingual Parent Advisory Committee. It is open to the public.

The significance of Cinco de Mayo will be explained in the play, written by Ray Acevedo, pre-school education assistant.

Murals painted by sixth grade Alcott Elementary School students of Leroy Martinez will be exhibited.

Almanac for today

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, May 2, the 122 day of 1975. There are 243 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, the Soviets announced the fall of Berlin in Worll War II. The Western Allies announced that Nazi troops had surrendered in Italy and parts of Austria.

On this date

In 1670, the Hudson's Bay Company was chartered by England.

In 1863, Confederate General Thomas "Stonewall" Jackson was mistaken for a Union scout and shot and fatally wounded by his own soldiers during the Civil War battle of Chancellorsville, Va.

In 1890, the Oklahoma Territory was organized.

In 1933, Adolf Hitler abolished labor unions in Germany.

In 1960, Caryl Chessman was executed in San Quentin prison in California after eight stays of execution.

In 1966, there was rioting in Israel during a visit by former West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Ten years ago: The first link in a world-wide live television system was opened as the early bird satellite united viewers in the United States, Canada, Mexico and Europe.

Five years ago: U.S. and South Vietnamese troops overran four bases in their thrust into Cambodia and captured large caches of rice.

One year ago: The Maryland Court of Appeals ordered former Vice President Spiro Agnew disbarred from legal practice in the state because of his no-contest plea on a charge of tax evasion.

Today's birthdays: King Hussein of Jordan is 40. Bing Crosby is 71.

Thought for today: Nothing is really work unless you would rather be doing something else — James Barrie, Scottish writer, 1860-1937.

Explorers plan rally

The Boy Scouts Explorer program will sponsor its annual safe-driving road rally on Saturday.

Some 200 youths are expected to compete. They will drive from the Los Angeles Police Academy to the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds.

Each will be judged on his ability to observe safe-driving rules. Awards will be given to the best driver and the best navigator. The winners will also qualify for the national road rally contest.

Following an awards ceremony, Los Angeles County sheriff's deputies will give a driver training course.

The rally is cosponsored by the Los Angeles Police Department, Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department and Truck Masters School of Trucking. The Boy Scouts' Los Angeles Area Council will provide the trophies.

Aaron breaks Ruth's RBI record

ANOTHER RECORD FOR BAD HENRY

All-time home run king Henry Aaron (44) breaks Babe Ruth's career runs batted in record with this third-inning single Thursday against Detroit. Aaron now has batted in a total of 2,210 runs.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Hank Aaron has climbed another plateau past Babe Ruth on the mountain of baseball immortality. But he insists he is already hearing footsteps in pursuit— those of 19-year-old shortstop Robin Yount.

Aaron, baseball's home run king with 735 in 22 superb seasons, shattered yet another Ruth record once thought unattainable by driving in two runs in the Milwaukee Brewers' 17-3 rout of the Detroit Tigers Thursday. He had tied Ruth's career runs batted in mark of 2,209 Sunday.

Aaron, whose four hits in four times at bat raised his average to .218, broke the record with a sharp single to left off Tiger rookie Vern Ruhle, scoring Sixto Lezcano in the third inning for a 3-2 Brewer lead.

An RBI double by Aaron triggered a five-run fifth inning, and Aaron singled as the Brewers poured across five more runs in the seventh. Yount capped that rally with a three-run homer, giving him two hits and four RBI for the day. The 19-year-old shortstop leads the Brewers in batting average, .387; homers, 4; RBI, 12; runs, 13, and hits, 24.

Aaron, who hit .314 for the old Milwaukee Braves and already had 40 career homers the year Yount was born, preferred to talk about his teenage teammate Thursday instead of his personal milestone.

"No more plateaus, I've never set any plateaus," the 41-year-old designated hitter said. "I just try to do the best I can and let the records fall. I just happened to be in position to break one of the most historic records in baseball, and I'm glad it's over with.

"The thing I like is that today showed this is a sound, young ball club," he said. "I believe this ball club will be right in the thick of things, and I'm just glad to be on this club.

"That Robin Yount—this kid is for real. He has tremendous talent and he wants to play. If he stays healthy, he's going to be a great, great ballplayer. Bud Selig, the rest of the owners were always talking about him this winter. You can see why."

Yount, who hit .250 as an 18-year-old regular last year, blushed when someone suggested he has been upstaging Aaron.

"Henry's still the man, and he always will be," said Yount, the American League's Player of the Month for April.

"He's really helped me a lot," Yount said. "We talked in spring training and he told me about certain pitches to look for in certain situations. Last year I wasn't concentrating on hitting like I should have because a lot of things were so new to me. I had a lot of things on my mind."

"But if you have an idea of what's coming, it's a lot easier," he said. "This year I have an idea. So far it's working out."

Aaron said he has not tried to tamper with Yount's natural swing. For one thing, he's been too busy worrying about his own.

"I knew I wasn't a .120 hitter," he said of his slow start. "I had been dropping my hands too much. The way I swing, I wiggle my hands, and if I drop my hands too much I have too many movements in my swing. I wasn't generating enough bat speed, especially when I finally did see a few fast balls."

"And there's a great differece between the American League and the National," he said. "They challenged me with more fast balls over there. There are different umpires, different strike zones. I think right now pitchers have the advantage on me simply because they know the umpires."

Aaron said he would send the ball hit for his RBI record to baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y.

Royals frustrate Angels

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The long struggle started at 7:33 p.m.

Four hours and 22 minutes, 33 hits, 21 runs, seven errors, 10 stolen bases, nine pitchers, three ejections and 13 innings later, the Kansas City Royals had beaten the California Angels 11-10 Thursday night.

Cookie Rojas doubled home the tying run and scored on Buck Martinez' single for the difference in this wild baseball shootout but it was the "Golddust Twins" who had a lot to do with keeping the Royals in the battle.

That would be Amos Otis and Fred Patek. Otis stole four bases and Patek two. Patek got three hits and Otis two, and each scored twice.

"We try to let the Angels know we've got rabbits on this club, too," said Otis, whose body was loaded with strawberries, a baseball player's terminology for bruises and spots of broken skin covered with bandages.

Otis, who leads the American League in stolen bases with 14, has swiped 11 against the Angels. He has been thrown out only twice.

"I had some good jumps," said Otis, who admits he's going to steal as many as possible this season. "I was on base six times. If the other club lets me run, I'll run.

"I know when to run and when to stay put. If I go, the whole team will move, and if they keep little Fred batting ahead of me, we'll both go."

Patek has pilfered 10 bases.

The first inning saw the two teams each score four runs and Angels Manager Dick Williams, catcher Ellie Rodriguez and starting pitcher Ed Figueroa ejected for protesting plate umpire Rich Garcia's ruling that Hal McRae was safe at home.

Joe Lahoud's home run, his second of the season, with Dave Chalk on base highlighted the Angels' first inning outburst against Nelson Briles. Tony Solaita slammed his first homer with Jim Wohlford scoring ahead of him in the Royals' seventh, deadlocking the game at 9-9.

That's the way it remained until Tommy Harper singled for the Angels with one out in the 13th, stole second and rode home on Chalk's single.

With one out, George Brett singled for Kansas City in the last of the 13th. Bob Stinson, a pinch hitter, forced Brett before Rojas unloaded his run-scoring double. Martinez, the next batter, poked a single into left field, sending Rojas home with the winning run.

The victory went to Doug Bird, 2-1, the Royals' fourth pitcher. Orlando Pena, 0-2, the Angels' fifth, was the loser. The loss knocked the Angels out of a tie with idle Oakland for the lead in the AL's West Division.

Dodgers host Pads tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodger injury list is creating some unexpected problems.

Shortstop Bill Russell suffered a broken hand April 12 and then outfielders Bill Buckner and Tom Paciorek were hurt.

Outfielder Jimmy Wynn, recovering from off-season surgery, came down with a sore arm.

Rick Auerbach took over at shortstop.

When Wynn was able to return he was moved to left field where his arm wouldn't be as likely to cause problems.

Second baseman Davey Lopes was moved into centerfield, his old position, and Lee Lacy went to work at second.

Now that some of the wounds are healing, Alston finds his substitutes are doing such a fine job that he doesn't want to change things around.

The Dodgers, atop the National League West with a seven-game winning streak, host the San Diego Padres in the opener of a three-game series tonight. Don Sutton, 4-1, is to go for the Dodgers and Dan Spillner for the Padres.

Lacy has hit .432 since coming off the bench, including three hits in each of his last two games.

Buckner comes off the disabied list Sunday and Russell is expected to return in a week.

Asked what he'd do then, Alston said, "Im not going to take either Lacy or Auerbach out, and I'm not going to take Lopes out of center field either. I hate to see anyone hurt, but what those injuries did to the Dodgers is to show our reserves they are a definite part of this team."

Said Lopes, "I wouldn't want to be our manager now. He's going to have some tough decisions to make."

Also pitching for the Dodgers over the weekend are Andy Messersmith, going for his fifth victory without a loss and Rick Rhoden, 2-0.

A ball night promotion tonight is expected to draw a crowd of 45,000 and with season attendance of more than 380,000 already the Dodgers feel they could hit the half-million mark this weekend, earliest in major league history.

Billie Jean says WTT to struggle again

PHOENIX (AP) — The second World Team Tennis season has opened and Billie Jean King, one of the league's pioneers, says it won't be a profitable one.

No WTT team will be a financial success for the next couple of years, Mrs. King said, but added "this will be a most important year in WTT's development. There are fewer teams but more depth and talent is the league this year.

"Nearly a million people saw us last year and I feel two million may see us this year."

The defending World Team Tennis champion Phoenix (formerly Denver) Racquets open their season against the New York Sets tonight.

Although Mrs. King has top billing, she said there's no such thing as a "Big Mama" or "Big Daddy" on a WTT team. "I'll be the water girl or whatever Fred (Sets Coach Fred Stolle) wants me to do—singles or doubles," she said.

Mrs. King said she plans to play active tennis another four years or as long as her knees hold up, but will limit her schedule almost exclusively to WTT.

The heavy schedule, to include commentary for ABC Sports, has forced her to give up the coaching duties she held last year with the Philadelphia Freedoms.

Borg-Connors match next on big money list?

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Is Bjorn Borg, the sensational Swedish teen-age tennis player, next on Jimmy Connors' list of big money matches?

There were indications today that the two youngsters would hook up in a virtual winner-take-all meeting later this year, possibly in September, in Sweden. Negotiations, however, were far from complete.

But Karl-Axel Hallqvist, a former boxing promoter and the man behind the Borg-Connors project, told the Swedish radio Thursday that he had negotiated with both players' agents.

He said he had booked the biggest indoor arenas in Stockholm and Goteborg Sept. 13 and 14 for the match. He said the winner would get $500,000 and the loser $50,000. He said the match would be telecast live via satellite in the United States and possibly on Swedish telvision.

He said so far that only Borg's agent, Mark McCormack, was "definitely interested." And he said he planned to meet with Connors' agent, Bill Riordan, in Paris next week for further negotiations.

Meanwhile, in Cleveland, Bud Stanner, who handles tennis players for McCormack's International Management Corp., said, "We're trying to put it (the match) together. At this point, nothing has been finalized."

Stanner added that he had discussed the match with Hallqvist and Hallqvist's representative in the United States, Jeff Hardy, during the past week. Hardy now is in England, but Stanner quoted him as saying prior to departing that Connors probably would not make a decision about the match until after the Wimbledon tournament, which ends in early July.

Connors, the 23-year-old Wimbledon and U.S. Open champion from Belleville, Ill., already has played in two lucrative challenge matches this year, both against Australians and both at Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas. And he won them both, beating Rod Laver in February and John Newcombe last Saturday.

The 18-year-old Borg, is the French and Italian Open champion and is ranked No. 2 by the Association of Tennis Players.

Borg and Connors have met only twice, each winning one match. Borg won the first match in the Stochholm Open in 1973, and Connors beat the young Swede in the final of the U.S. Clay Court Championships in Indianapolis last year.

Seton Hall, Nebraska hit by NCAA disciplinary actions

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — Seton Hall University has been placed on probation for two years by the National Collegiate Athletic Association for questionable ethical conduct in recruiting basketball players.

The probation, announced Thursday in Kansas City, prohibits the school from participating in post-season competition after the 1975-76 season and from appearing on any NCAA controlled television series during the first year.

"The Committee on Infractions concluded that the violations of NCAA legislation in this case were varied and of a serious nature," said committee chairman Arthur R. Reynolds.

The reprimand followed an NCAA probe which came to light last year when it was alleged that violations occurred in the recruitment of Glenn Mosley, the nation's leading rebounder.

The NCAA rejected the Mosley appeal, so the player will not be eligible to play again until the eighth game next season. He missed the second half of last season.

Msgr. Thomas G. Fahy, president of Seton Hall, said he was considering legal action to seek the reinstatement of Mosley's playing rights.

Fahy suspended and fined athletic director Richie Regan, head coach Bill Raftery and assistant coach Horace Mahon for violations in recruiting the 6-foot-8 sophomore.

Reynolds said the university's action "was strong and meaningful and should be considered as a mitigating circumstance in any penalties imposed by the Committee on Infractions."

The NCAA also disciplined the University of Nebraska for allowing four ineligible football players to attend bowl games. All were suspended from one game, the Cornhuskers' home opener against Louisiana State Sept. 13.

The NCAA said Nebraska permitted defensive tackle Dean Gissler and defensive back Jim Burrow to accompany the team to the 1973 Orange Bowl and quarterback Vince Ferragamo and defensive end Ray Phillips to go to the 1974 Sugar Bowl. They did not play, but were suited up on the sidelines, the NCAA said.

Besides barring them from one game, no other sanctions were imposed.

Stags' Nash becomes a track star

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

Billy Nash has once again created some excitement at Claremont-Mudd.

But this time the Stags' tailback from the football team is doing his thing on the track.

Bill turned himself into an overnight track star last weekend at the Mt. San Antonio Relays when he finished second in the open 100 yard dash in a blazing 9.5 seconds.

The thing that makes it so incredible is that Nash wasn't even scheduled to run in the event.

"I was an alternate in the race," the 6-foot-1, 200 pound speedster noted, "Then somebody pulled out at the last minute and I was in."

"We really didn't want him in the race," explained Mt. San Antonio College head track coach and Relays coordinator Don Ruhe. "The best time we had for him was a 9.8, and that wasn't very good for that kind of field. Then he ran the 9.5. That was great."

Nash, who qualified with that mark for the NAIA Nationals, finished second in the race behind NSLA's Dotson Wilson — both with the same time.

"Jim Bush (UCLA's head coach) was all excited because his guy ran a 9.5," stated Claremont-Mudd football coach John Zinda. "Billy ran the same thing."

Nash and Zinda were guests at the weekly valley track luncheon Thursday, which was held at the Castaway Restaurant in Pomona. And on top of everything else, Billy was named the college division Valley Track Athlete of the Week.

BILLY NASH

What makes Nash's story so amazing is that he had never competed in track before this year.

"I wanted to stay fit for football," Nash explained. "So I decided that if I'm going to stay fit I better start with the legs. I figured I could get in shape by joining the track team."

Billy was signed to play football for the Dallas Cowboys, and will be participating in the Cowoys' rookie camp this summer. So he wants to be ready.

"I have definite hopes of making it down there at the rookie camp," Nash exclaimed.

All of the Claremont-Mudd track athletes have been working with a slight handicap, since they don't have a full-ltime coach working with them.

Chris Parkson has been the head coach for the Stags, but only on a part time basis. However, Nash explained that Parkson spends as much time as he can with the athletes, and the times he isn't present the athletes work on their individual skills.

"I've worked a lot with Parkson," Billy noted. "The first time I ran the 100, I was clocked in 10.0 seconds. Then he had me work on some different skills and the second time I ran it, I was timed in 9.8 seconds."

Just prior to the Mt. San Antonio Relays, Billy ran a 9.6-second 100 in a double dual SCIAC meet against Redlands and Caltech.

"I'm beginning to build more confidence in myself as far as track is concerned," the C-M tailback exclaimed. "Each meet I get a big lead after 60 or 70 yards and then kind of watch the rest of the field. By the end of the race, they usually catch me. So now I'm working on that problem."

Nash will be competing in the SCIAC Prelims and Finals this weekend at Occidental College, and he's looking forward to a very successful trip.

"This Saturday could be a very interesting race at Occidental." Zinda pointed out. "Nash's only loss in conference was to Occidental's Kevin Brown. They'll meet again in the conference finals."

"I should win," Billy predicted. "In fact, I've got the attitude that I'm going to win both the 100 and the 220. I'm carrying a lot of weight right now, so the 220 might be difficult."

Zinda also made an announcement at the luncheon about the coaching status at C-M.

"Within the next two weeks, we'll be announcing the appointment of a full time track coach," the football mentor said. "We feel track is a full time sport. We also think that track at our school can be very strong because of the type of athlete we attract."

Parkson may start on as a part time assistant coach, since the C-M athletic department was very pleased with his work.

Other special guests at the weekly track luncheon were Valley High School Track Athletes of the Week — Pomona High hurdler Dwayne Jackson and Ontario High sprinter Marcus Jennings.

Jackson won the honor by establishing a Mt. San Antonio Relays record in the high school 330 low hurdles, flashing a time of 37.5 seconds.

Jennings received recognition for his long jump mark of 24 feet, 1¼ inches (best in the state) he recorded two weeks ago.

Citrus College sprinter and hurdler Willie McLaurin was named the Valley Junior College Track Athlete of the Week for his performance against Grossmont and in the MSAC Relays.

Foolish Pleasure tops list

LOUISVILLE (AP) "He's as honest as he can be; he always tries," says his owner. And Foolish Pleasure will try to beat 14 other 3-year-olds in the Kentucky Derby Saturday.

"We hope to win, but I'd be foolish to guarantee it," said owner John L. Greer, who has watched Foolish Pleasure win 10 of 11 lifetime starts including two major pre-Derby Stakes—he $100,000-added Flamingo and the $100,000-added Wood Memorial.

The Churchill Downs oddsmaker listed Foolish Pleasure as the 9-5 favorite Thursday to win the first prize of $209,600 from a purse that will total $262,100 if all 15 start in the 101st running of the 1¼-mile Derby.

Foolish Pleasure worked a half-mile in 48 seconds over a sloppy track and galloped out five-eighths in 1:01 Thursday.

"I'm in the dark as much as anybody about the condition of the track," said trainer Leroy Jolley when he entered Foolish Pleasure. "But the horse will accept any kind of track."

With no more rain, the track should be fast for the Derby. The weather forecast for today and Saturday called for cloudy and mild weather, with the temperature around 70 Saturday.

Post time is 5:32 p.m. EDT, with television coverage by ABC from 5 p.m.-6 p.m.

Foolish Pleasure will start from the No. 3 post position under Jacinto Vasquez in the Derby, which calls for scale weights of 126 pounds.

John Galbreath's Prince Thou Art and Golden Chance Farm's Master Derby, expected to be Foolish Pleasure's toughest competition, both will start on the outside of the favorite.

Prince Thou Art, who upset Foolish Pleasure in the Florida Derby, will go from the No. 8 post under Braulio Baeza. He will run as part of an entry with Galbreath's Sylvan Place, a non-stakes winner who was second in the Florida Derby.

Sylvan Place will start from the No. 14 post and be ridden by Anget Cordero Jr., who won the 1974 Derby on Cannonade.

"I'd prefer a fast track for both horses," said Lou Rondinello, trainer of the entry, which is the early 7-2 second choice. "With a large field I prefer a fast track."

Master Derby has won his last five races, including the Louisiana Derby and the Blue Grass Stakes, and is listed as a 9-2 choice to make it six in a row Saturday. An off-track figures to help the chances of the son of Dust Commander, 1970 Derby winner, who will leave from the five post under Darrell McHargue.

A colt who prefers a fast track is Frank McMahon's Diabolo, winner of the 1⅛-mile California Derby in a blazing 1:46 3-5 on a fast track at Golden Gate Fields. Laffit Pincay Jr., who rode Diabolo for the first time in the California Derby, will be aboard again Saturday when the dark bay starts from the No. 13 slot.

Two other big stakes winners in the field are Arthur A. Selligson Jr.'s Avatar, winner of the Santa Anita Derby, and Bob Clayton's Promised ity, who was first in the Arkansas Derby. An Arkansas Derby winner never has won the Kentucky Derby.

Bill Shoemaker, who will be trying to win his fourth Derby in 19 attempts, will ride Avatar out of the No. 10 slot, while Dave Whited will ride Promised City from the outside post.

"He's going to run, that's why we put him in," said Promised City's trainer, Larry Spraker, who added that he couldn't do anything about the post position or the size of the field.

Roland Aristone Sr.'s Bombay Duck, who missed upsetting Foolish Pleasure by head after setting the pace in the Wood, will start from the No. 5 post.

Honey Mark won a stakes as a 2-year-old, and won the Stepping Stone Purse and was second in the Blue Grass this year. Gatch has won stakes in Panama, one of the at the Derby distance of 1¼ miles on New Year's Day.

The others are non-stakes winners.

Gatch, Bold Chapeau and Fashion Sale are coupled in the mutuel field, or a single betting interest.

Sports news in brief

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP — Jockey Bill Shoemaker was suspended Thursday for five racing days starting this Sunday for careless riding aboard a winning ride in Wednesdoy's program at Hollywood Park.

Shoemaker rode Tavia Country to victory in the sixth race and stewards ruled careless riding caused interference on the far turn during the race.

HOUSTON (AP) — A.J. Foyt's 16-year-old daughter, Terry, was listed Thursday in serious condition with bronchial asthma.

Foyt's daughter was hospitalized early Wednesday and was described by a spokesman Thursday as "improving but still serious."

Foyt withdrew from the Winston 500, scheduled for Sunday at Winston-Salem, N.C., because of the illness.

PARIS — Neil Coles of Britain held the first-round lead in the the French Open Golf Championship, shooting a seven-under-par 64.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. AP)—Upton Bell, president and general manager of the World Football League Charlotte Hornets, said Thursday that he has begun efforts to sign players from last year's team, which moved to Charlotte from New York in October.

BUFFALO — The Buffalo Braves filed a $500,000 suit against Eddie Donovan, charging that he broke a three-year agreement when he moved to the New York Knicks as general manager.

PORTLAND, Me. — Third-seeded Bob Carmichael of Australia upset Clark Graebner of the United States 7-6, 4-6, 7-6 in the opening round of the $15,000 Downeast Tennis Classic.

MEXICO CITY — Arthur Ashe teamed with Tom Okker to move into the men's doubles quarter-finals of the World Tennis Championship with a 4-6, 6-3, 7-6, 6-3 victory over John Alexander and Phil Dent.

TALLADEGA, Ala. — Buddy Baker turned in a qualifying speed of 189.947 miles per hour to grab the pole position for Sunday's $176,410 Winston 500 stock car race.

Knowles happy with Cubs

CHICAGO (AP) — Relief pitcher Darold Knowles, who objected to the off-season deal which sent him from the three-time world champion Oakland A's to the Chicago Cubs, now thinks he may have landed with a pennant contender after all.

"I asked Charley Finley last fall to trade me to a contender," recalled Knowles, who posted his third save of the young season Thursday as the Cubs beat the New York Mets 5-2.

"I wasn't happy about going to the last-place Cubs," said Knowles. "It was the kiss of death asking Finley to trade me to a winning club, but now the Cubs are suddenly a contender."

With the season nearly a month old, the Cubs' 13-5 recrd is the best in the major leagues. Knowles, a 33-year-old left-hander, has been a big part of their early success, pitching in seven games and allowing only three hits and no runs over 12 innings.

"If we play this way all season, I see no reason why we can't finish near the top in our division," Knowles added.

In Thursday's only other National League game, the Houston Astros beat the San Diego Padres 6-3. One other game, St. Louis at Pittsburgh, was rained out.

In the American League, the Milwaukee Brewers crushed the Detroit Tigers 6-3; Boston nipped Cleveland 7-6; Texas edged the Chicago White Sox 2-1, New York blanked Baltimire 5-0 and Kansas City outscored the Angels 11-10 in 13 innings.

"We're just playing like hell," said Manager Jim Marshall, whose Cubs have won six of their last seven outings. "We've been getting what we need when we need it without being lucky."

Against the Mets, Chicago's winning formula was an 11-hit attack and sterling relief pitching.

Starter Steve Stone was sent to the sidelines by a leg injury after 5 1-3 innings but still posted his fourth straight victory without defeat. Ken Frailing and Milt Wilcox made brief appearances before Knowles cleaned up with a faultless stint for 2 1-3 innings.

Knowles was acquired from the A's along with second-baseman Manny Trillo for Billy Williams, the long-time Chicago outfield star.

"Right now I'm throwing well and making good pitches when I want," Knowles said. "I don't worry about this ball-park (Wrigley Field). It's a matter of luck whether the ball is popped up or out of the park. You can't worry about it."

Stone, who singled across the go-ahead run for a 3-2 lead in the fourth inning, said he wanted to stay in and go for his third complete game. "But it was hurting," Stone said of what he described as a pinched nerve high on his right leg.

"Stone was limping pretty badly when he raced to cover first," said Marshall. "Nobody wants a pitcher to go nine innings more than I do, but not if I think a change should be made. I feel we have a complete pitching staff and everybody can do his job, including the relievers."

Astros 6, Padres 3

Bob Watson and Doug Rader drove in two runs apiece to pact the Houston attack. Watson had a run-scoring single in the first inning and hit his fourth homer of the season in the third. Rader belted a tworun double in the fifth.

Ken Forsch got the victory for the Astros, with relief help from Jim Crawford.

Red Sox 7, Indians 6

Bernie Carbo triggered a three-run first inning with a leadoff double, then tagged Cleveland starter Jim Perry with a two-run homer in the second as Boston snapped a four-game losing streak with a victory over the Indians.

Staked to a 7-2 lead, lefthander Bill Lee was working on a five-hitter until surrendering John Ellis' three-run homer in the eighth. Rico Carty's pinch hit RBI single made it 7-6 but reliever Diego Segui got the last out.

Rangers 2, White Sox 1

Lenny Randle's run-scoring single in the ninth inning lifted Texas over Chicago. With one out, Jim Sundberg was hit by a pitch. Cesar Tovar hit a grounder to Bill Melton, but the throw to second for a forceout was dropped by Jorge Orta and Sundberg took third on the play. Reliever Terry Forster came on and struck out Roy Howell for the second out but Randle beat out an infield single and Sundberg scored.

"We're playing more relaxed now," said Texas Manager Billy Martin. "These are the kind of games you have to win."

Yankees 5, Orioles 0

Catfish Hunter silenced Baltimore on five hits while Thurman Munson and Ron Blomberg provided the power to give New York its victory over the Orioles.

Hunter picked up his second straight victory after losing his first three starts. Munson hit a two-run homer in the fourth inning and Blomberg knocked in three runs with a double in the sixth.

Pomona spikers finish unbeaten

By MIKE GRIP
P-B Correspondent

San Antonio League champion Pomona High showed why it is the No. 1 team in the San Antonio League, breezing to a 88½-28½ victory over Montclair in the final SAL dual meet of the season Thursday on the Montclair track.

The Devils clinched the title earlier this week with their victory over Ganesha. The win finishes off Pomona's perfect season with a 7-0 record. The Devils will now move on to the league preliminies finals at Damien this Tuesday.

Pomona dominated most of the events of the afternoon, except when Jim Donaldson was competing. Donaldson took firsts in the 100 and 220 yard dashes and a third in the long jump. His time in the 100 was a wind-aided 9.6, fast enough to break the school mark formerly held by Gerrard Bryant (9.7), and tie the SAL mark held by Darrel Gardner of Ganesha. Gardner set the record earlier this year in a showdown with Donaldson.

Dwayne Jackson and Hank Zibell both finished their undefeated seasons with victories. Zibell won the shot put with a heave of 58-1½. Jackson won the 120 high hurdles ahead of teammates Pat Riggins and Ernest Jarnigan and tied with teammate Jim Middleton in the 330 lows with times of 14.5 and 43.1 respectively.

In the 880 yard run, it was Pomona sweeping the event. Larry Martin, Curtis Goss, and Ken Dent finished in that order with a winning time of 2:04.5.

In the mile run it was Barry Boettcher beating Montclair's Mike Roza and Dent with a time of 4:30.6.

Montclair won the pole vault with Al Huggans' vault of 13 feet, beating Pomona's Jeff Syverud and Dino Floyd.

The Devils swept the quarter mile with William White winning ahead of Mike Jones and Diamond Sherman with a time of 51.2

Roza won the two mile ahead of Devil Joe Martin in a time of 10:04.2.

Art Hodges posted wins in the long and high jumps of 22-4¼ and 5-10 respectively. Charles Cole took second and Donaldson third in the long jump. Scott Huggans took second over Cole and Pete Arango, who tied for third in the high jump.

The Devils swept both relay events as the team of Loyd Landry, Ray Butler, Hodges, and Terry Andrews won the 440 in 45.0 Jones, White, Cole and Jackson combined to win the mile relay.

Donaldson beat White and Pomona's Anthony Smith in the 220 and won over Landry and White in the 100.

Ganesha spikers take over 2nd place in SAL

Ganesha High completed its San Antonio League dual meet track season all alone in second place.

But by the end of today, the Giants may have to share that spots.

They capped their dual meet season Thursday by defeating visiting Upland, 65-48. The victory gave Ganesha a 5-2 record in the SAL, while Upland finished up with a 4-3 mark.

Chino still has a chance to take a share of second place when it visits Garey today in a meet that was postponed Thursday. Garey called off the meet due to some minor problems on the Viking campus. If the meet does not go off today, the Vikings will be forced to forfeit, according to Garey atheltic director Simon Tolbert.

The Cowboys will go into the meet with a 4-2 record, while Garey sports a 1-5 slate.

In one other track meet held Thursday, Claremont romped past Damien, 86-31.

Ganesha had three triple winners in its win over Upland. Sprinter Darrell Gardner won the 100 in 9.9 seconds and took the 220 in 23.0.

Hurdler Lloyd Jones grab firsts in the 120 highs in 14.7 seconds and the 330 lows in 39.3 seconds. Field event man Earnest Brown claimed wins in the long jump of 21 feet, 2½ inches and in the high jump of 5 feet, 10 inches.

Upland's only double winner was Mark Sorenson, who took the half mile in 2:03.8 and the mile in 4:42.2.

Ardrey posted the only double win for Claremont, taking the mile in 4:48.4 and the two mile in 10:27.0. His teammate Clark Harris tied him for first in the two mile.

Sprinter Tom Burke collected two wins for Damien in the 100 (10.5) and the 220 (24.7).

The San Antonio League preliminaries will be held next Tuesday at Upland High, beginning at 2 p.m. The finals will be conducted next Friday night on the Highlander track at 5:30 p.m.

The original site for the prelims and finals was Damien High, but the league coaches changed it Thursday night in a seeding meeting.

L.A. Aztecs seek third straight win Saturday

LOS ANGELES — With two very satisfying and well deserved victories under their belts, the Los Angeles Aztecs go after their third straight win of the young season Saturday at El Camino College against the St. Louis Stars of the Central Division. Kickoff is at 8 p.m.

The Aztecs set a club record for attendance as they knocked off the San Antonio Thunder in convincing fashion, 3-0, before 7,747 fans last Sturday at home. It was the largest home crowd ever to see a regular season Aztec soccer game and easily topped the 6,248 high of 1974.

It was also a milestone of sorts for Terry Fisher, the rookie Aztec coach who is starting to make believers out of the rest of the North American Soccer League. Fisher, who at 25 years of age is the youngest coach in major professional sports, has now beaten teams coached by such established mentors as Ivan Toplak of San Jose and Alex Perolli of San Antonio in his first two starts.

"The win over San Antonio was great for our home crowd and our players because we were determined to win," said Fisher. "Our team was so dedicated to winning."

St. Louis presents a very different challenge and boats English goalie Peter Bonetti to go along with some of the best American soccer players to be found.

"They beat Dallas 3-0 and are a strong, physical team," observed Fisher. "St. Louis is the most 'Americanized' team in our league and has good players in Dennis Vaninger, who scored two goals against Dallas, and Pat McBride, a very good midfielder."

Mounties remain on top

Mt. San Antonio College kept its share of the South Coast Conference baseball lead Thursday afternoon.

The Mounties, behind the five-hitter of Larry Pekarcik, remained unbeaten against Orange Coast by handing the host Pirates a 9-2 loss.

With the win, MSAC remained in a tie for first place with Cerritos—both with 12-5 conference records. Cerritos stayed in the running by knocking off Santa Ana, 10-0.

Pekarcik went eight of the nine innings, giving up five hits while fanning 10 and walking none.

The Mounties, who are now 25-8 for the season, put the game away early with the four-run second inning.

They added one more run in the fourth and four in the last three innings.

Mike Parkinson went three-for-five in the ball game, while Marty Shepherd batted two-for-three with an eighth inning run-scoring triple.

Over in the Mission Conference, Citrus pulled further away from second-place Riverside in the Northern Division standings by trimming Chaffey, 4-3. Meanwhile, San Bernardino dropped Riverside, 6-1, in 13 innings.

Citrus is now 17-4 in conference play, with Riverside staying in second place with a 13-8 slate. SBVC and Chaffey are currently tied for third with 12-9 records.

Citrus, which has already clinched a spot in Mission Conference playoffs, scored what turned out to be the winning run in the top of the seventh inning.

Worth Valentine got the Owls' rally going with a single, and then was replaced on the base paths by Henry Hardy, who eventually stole second.

After one out, Todd Ervin reached base safely on a Chaffey fielding error and Hardy advanced to third. Then Jim McCadden hit a potential double play ground ball to second base. But Ervin broke up the play at second base, and the run scored.

Frank Convertino collected three hits for Citrus (three-for-five), while Brian Francisco recorded three also (three-for-four).

Citrus hosts Riverside Saturday, while Chaffey visits San Bernardino.

Citrus will face the Northern Division's second place team next Tuesday in a single game playoff for division championship. However, if Citrus defeats Riverside, then the Tigers and the winner of the Chaffey-San Bernardino game will end up the regular season tied for second.

GOT A BIRD — A birdie putt started Lee Trevino off on a 66 to share Houston Open first round lead.

Trevino still after first win in Texas

By Associated Press

HOUSTON (AP) "One of these days in this state...." Lee Trevino let the sentence trail off.

It's one of his fondest hopes to win a golf tournament in his native Texas. It hasn't happened yet.

"It's really tough to win in your home state," Trevino said. "You know, you have so many friends in the gallery, lots of friends and people pulling for you and it puts extra pressure on you."

As usual, he had a massive gallery of followers Thursday, many of them of Mexican-American heritage.

"There's more Mexicans than whites in my gallery because more Mexicans are out of work," Trevino said after his six-under-par 66 had given him a share of the lead with Australian David Graham in the first round of the $150,000 Houston Open Golf Tournament.

"I like this course," "Trevino said of the new, lush, 6,929-yard Woodlands Country Club layout that features tight, pine-forest lined fairways and greens guarded by 91 sandtraps and 12 lakes and ponds. "You have to work the ball. You have to hit it where you're aiming."

Jerry McGee, winner of the Pensacola Open just two weeks ago, birdied his first four holes and headed a group tied at 67. Also at that figure were Dale Douglass, Eddie Pearce and rookie Alan Tapie.

At 68 were Lou Graham, Don Bies, John Schroeder, Bob Shaw, Joe Inman, Mike Wynn, Artie McNickle, Larry Nelson and Bruce Crampton, a former Houston Open winner.

Defending titleholder Dave Hill struggled to a 73 and Arnold Palmer took a 74 after some familiar putting problems. "I missed a two-foot birdie putt on my first hole and that just kind of set the pattern for the day," said Palmer, who must improve if he is to qualify for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday. "My putting was just gross."

Jack Nicklaus, Johnny Miller, Tom Weiskopf and Gary Player are not competing.

Their absence can only increase Trevino's chances of winning his first title in Texas. And, coming off a solid performance in last week's Tournament of Champions—he missed a playoff by a single shot—he's primed and ready.

"I'm a streak player, he said. "When I've got it going, I sometimes tend to keep it going. I might shoot 85 tomorrow, but I've got to say I'm playing good right now.

"A lot of it is the weather. I've said it a thousand times. When it's 75, I'll jive. I got to have the hot weather to play good."

And, in muggy heat, under occasionally threatening skies, he played very well

He missed only one green and came out to within tap-in distance there. He didn't make a bogey. He made a deuce from 15 feet and got his other three birdies on par fives, chipping up close on all of them.

Graham, a quiet, slender Australian who once won the World Cup and has played the American tour for five seasons, called his effort "by far my best of the year and one of the best I've ever played."

He didn't miss a green and didn't even come close to making a bogey. His longest birdie putt was 15 feet.

Poly's track team runs up against CSUN

Cal Poly Pomona's track squad should be facing its most competitive dual meet of the season when the Broncos travel to Cal State Northridge Saturday.

The Matadors, undefeated in dual meet competition this season, and Poly will square off beginning at 1 p.m. at the CSUN track. Northridge is the odds-on favorite to capture the California Collegiate Athletic Association track title, but Bronco head coach Fred Jones is hoping his squad can turn in a spirited outing Saturday.

On paper, the two teams stack up very evenly except in the distance events, where the Matadors have a decided edge. Jones figures his squad will have to come through in the sprints and hurdles to stand any chance of upsetting the powerful Northridge tracksters, but does not discount that possibility.

"We had great individual performances in the Mt. Sac Relays competition last week and are looking forward to the meet at Northridge," noted Jones. "If our guys come through against Northridge, I think we can neutralize their strength in the distance events. As a team, Northridge really doesn't have a weakness. But it should be a competitive meet . . IF our guys perform up to their potential." Placing in the competition at Mt SAC over the weekend were Tim O'Connor in the javelin, Lannie Carr and Russ Reabold in the shot put, Paul Nelson and Larry Jayner in the 440 intermediate hurdles and Mike James in the long jump. In addition, the Poly sprint medley relay team of Jerrold Curry, David Yates, Mike Harris and George McFarland took second in their race. Personal bests were achieved by Reabold in the shot put with a toss of 50-10, Nelson in the 440s with a 53.5 clocking, and Mark Kegans in the pole vault with a vault of 15-0.

The Broncos will be carrying a 4-4 dual meet mark in Saturday's competition. CSUN is 5-0 on the season in dual meet action.

'Pack golfers cinch title tie

Claremont High's golf team cinched at least a share of the San Antonio League golf championship Thursday afternoon by knocking off host Chino, 189-220.

The Wolfpack extended its league record to 8-0 and its season mark to 9-3.

Chino's Keith Stone and Claremont's Chuck Rosin tied for the medalist honors. Both fired one-over-par 36s at the Western Hills Country Club 9-hole course.

Claremont's Steve Ashton finished one stroke back at two-over 67.

The Wolves will try to sew up sole possession of the title Monday when they visit Gladstone at the San Dimas Canyon course.

USC, UCLA clash again this weekend

LOS ANGELES — Ever since Track & Field News began ranking the nation's collegiate dual meet teams in 1970, the winner of the USC-UCLA meet has been picked National Collegiate dual meet champions.

It should be no different this season. Both USC and UCLA are unbeaten going into Saturday's crosstown confrontation at the Bruins' Drake Stadium, starting at 1:15 p.m. The Trojans, competing mostly in non-scoring relay competitions, are 4-0, while the Bruins are 8-0.

UCLA is the defending dual meet champion, winning last year's showdown with USC, 82-63, at the Coliseum. The Bruins have won the national title four times (1970-72-73-74) and the Trojans once (1971).

USC is the last team to beat the Bruins in a dual meet, winning 75-70 in 1971 at UCLA. Since then, UCLA has won 34 straight.

In the all-time series, the Trojans still hold a commanding advantage, 16-6. USC has not lost a dual meet other than to UCLA since 1965 when Washington beat the Trojans, 84-61, at Pullman.

USC coach Vern Wolfe has not doped out the meet event-by-event. There are too many events that could could go either way, he says.

"I think this is a meet where the early event marks will go a long way in deciding the meet," Wolfe said. "There is so much emotion involved.

"The long jump, javelin and 440 relay are three key ones in the early going. If one team can take those three, they will have a great emotional change. But it's doubtful either team will sweep those or dominate the meet.

"Every race will be very competitive," he said. "And because the meet figures to be so close, all the events will provide double excitement, combining the tremendous individual competition with the effect on the team score. The meet will show that track and field is not dead by a long way."

No collegiate dual meet can compare in the caliber of performers. USC has Olympic gold medalist Randy Williams, 1974 NCAA champion James Gilkes, the fastest mile relay team in USC history and the fastest collegiate 440 relay team in the past two years. UCLA counters with 45.0 quarter-miler Benny Brown, defending NCAA long jump titlist Jerry Herndon, 17-8 pole vaulters Ron Mocers and Mike Tully and all-around star Rory Kotinek (7-3) high jump, 253-8 javelin).

The long jump, which opens the meet at 1:15 p.m., will pit two NCAA champions against each other. Williams won at the 1972 nationals and Herndon last year, both doing it as freshman.

With USC's Russ Rogers clearing 17-1½ two weeks ago, there are three 17-footers in the pole vault. And the triple jump features four competitors who have leaped 52-11¾ or better. Four high hurdlers have run under 14.0.

The perfect climax to the meet is the mile relay. UCLA has won an unprecedented six straight mile relays in the NCAA Championships, but USC has run faster with a school record of 3:07.4.

Billy Nash wins honors in track

Jackson, who attended Pomona during his sophomore year and then moved to Texas in his junior year, made some interesting points about the difference in high school track in California and Texas.

"A lot of high schools in Texas have the all-weather tracks like Mt. SAC's" he noted. "But they don't have dual meets like California does. Most of the time we competed against two or three other schools in one meet."

Dwayne also noted that he had the second best time in the state's Class B division. His best times so far this year in the hurdles have been 14.3 seconds in the 120 highs and the 37.5 in the 330 lows.

QUOTING THE COACHES:

Assistant coach Frank Hardy, Pomona High: "We were real proud of the job our guys did against Ganesha, It was a total team effort. I think we have a good chance to take the CIF 3-A championship."

Dan Sweeney, Ontario High: "This is the best track team I've ever had. Out of the 14 events, we hold the to marks in league in eight of those. Marcus has been by far our most valuable athlete. He's undefeated in three events, and that's quite an accomplishment. We should be strong in the hurdles, and our mile relay team (which has run 3:27.0) is capable of running 3:24.0. We should be in the top three of the CIF 2-A."

Rhu, MSAC: "Our team didn't do quite well as we thought at the conference prelims. We felt if we qualified 40, we would have a good shot at the conference title, along with the dual meet title we've already won. We qualified 41, but there were four others we expected to make it and didn't. We hope we can tie things together for the finals. Our pole vaulter Kevin French was outstanding again as he set a personal best at 15-3."

Assistant coach Vince O'Boyle, Citrus: "Nothing really exciting happened at our conference prelims. But the mile run seems to be wide open, since a couple of key athletes won't be competing in it. We qualified everybody we expected except for Browning Allen, who didn't make it due to an injury. McLaurin was a triple winner against Grossmont this week. He won the 100 in 9.9, the 220 in 22.3, and the 120 high hurdles in 14.6. He's the defending conference champion in the highs. We got to the West Coast Relays this Saturday.

WTT team calls a halt

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston EZ Riders of the World Team Tennis will suspend operations for the 1975 season, The Houston Post reported in its early Friday editions.

The team reportedly will try to rejoin the league next year and all roster players will remain under contract, Post sources said.

Tht EZ Riders have called a news conference Friday to announce their future plans.

EZ Rider team members, including John Newcombe, Dick Stockton and Helen Gourlay, are not expected to play for any other WTT franchise during the coming season.

Chaffey swimmers get medals at Anaheim

Five swimmers from the Chaffey Aquatics Club returned with first place medals at an AAU A & B meet at Anaheim in the opening of the season for the meter long course competition.

Earning first places were: Karon Kostoff, 1:15.4 in the 100 meter backstroke "A" in the 11-12 age group; Mike Grabowski, 1:15.4 in the 100 meter fly "A" in 11-12; Todd Majors, 1:23.5 in the 100 meter fly "B" in 11-12; Jim Moore, 4:29.4 in the 400 meter free "A" in 15-17; and Francis French, 1:12.6 in the 100 meter free "B" in 15-17.

Grabowski placed second in three other races while Majors, Moore and French also returned with at least one second place award.

Other Chaffey place winners were Lynn Ferguson, Margie Burroughs, Tressa Ries, Jeff Thornton, Lawrence Jaffee and Mark Szpyrka.

Chaffey's novice and AAU teams are preparing for the Southern California Aquatic Association Relay Championships at Arcadia on June 7.

The next AAU meet is on June 7 and 8 at Mission Viejo for "AA" time standards only.

Swimmers interested in joining the program are invited to the nightly practices at the Chaffey High pool or by contacting coach John Ries at 981-1785.

Sabres expect to play better against Canadiens next time

MONTREAL (AP) — Coach Floyd Smith of the Buffalo Sabres promises his National Hockey League club will not play as poorly in the fourth game of their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semifinal series as they did in the third Thursday night.

Three goals by Guy Lafleur helped Montreal Canadiens to a 7-0 triumph over the Sabres, Montreal's first victory in the series. Peter Mahovlich, Jacques Lemaire, Yvon Lambert and Doug Risebrough were the other Canadiens marksmen.

The fourth game is at Montreal Saturday night with Buffalo holding a 2-1 lead.

"We weren't good enough tonight," Smith said. "They played very well. They wanted it more than we did and they went out and took it.

"We coughed up the puck... and it seemed like nobody wanted to play the game. We won't play that badly again, you can be assured of that.

"I don't like to see seven goals go in any time. It's the first time we've been beaten like that for a long time. We'll play better Saturday night."

The Canadiens, who were flat in the first two games in Buffalo, kept the Sabres bottled up in their own zone for a good part of the opening session. The Sabres did not get a shot on goal until 8:11 when Rick Martin, who had seven of Buffalo's 27 shots, tested Montreal goaltender Ken Dryden during a Buffalo power play.

It came long after Mahovlich had beaten Buffalo goalie Roger Crozier for Montreal's first goal at 1:38 while Rene Robert of the Sabres was off for hooking.

Lafleur made it 2-0 with 1:04 to play in the opening period and Lemaire got the lone goal of the middle session.

Montreal wrapped it up with four goals in the final session, two of them against goalie Gerry Desjardins, making his first appearance since injuring his right knee in Sunday's opener.

"I wanted to give him the opportunity to see if his knee was all right," Smith said, explaining the change. "Now he's got two days to think about the next game and doesn't have to worry about his knee."

While the Canadiens were happy to have beaten the Sabres for the first time this year—Buffalo won four and tied one during regular-season play—the Montreal players were not about to rest on their laurels.

"We've still got to win another one," said Mahovlich. "It would be pretty tough to lose Saturday. I hope we don't think we can just throw out our skates Saturday night."

"There's no sense winning this game and going out and losing Saturday," added left-winger Steve Shutt. "This is just a start.

"This was a critical game for us. If we'd have lost this one..."

The rest of Shutt's sentence was lost in the din of the happy Montreal dressing room. But there's little doubt that if the Canadiens had lost Thursday, they might have been starting their summer vacations a little earlier than planned.

American basketball confuses Europeans

SAN DIEGO (AP) — After a year as commissioner of the new European Professional Basketball Dick Davis concedes "the continent may not be ready for it."

The touring Yankees played by U.S. rules in countries accustomed to international rules. There was confusion about when to play and, although Davis says no payrolls were actually missed, the five-team league took a financial drubbing.

His all-American product was shipped to Germany, Spain, Switzerland, Belgium and Israel and was playing only two months after drafting their first players.

"It was a very inauspicious start," Davis said Thursday after returning home.

"As the season went along, the league became more popular in most of the areas. In Israel, for example, it really took off. By the end of the season, they were drawing crowds of up to 6,000 people.

"In Switzerland, I think it was the biggest thing in sports in a long time.

"It could have been in Belgium, too, except they got involved with some bad press and other things.

"In Spain, the amateur people really tried to torpedo them but I think they've got a market there.

"I'm not sure Germany will ever be good. They're so nutty about soccer. And on Friday nights they're going to Austria with their skis on the car."

In Europe, which is used to international rules, Davis said "a lot of times they wouldn't understand what was going on."

"There were times when the payroll was late," he acknowledged. "With the owners all being in this country and the rest of us all over there, it was a classic case of absentee ownership."

Davis reported to the owners at a recent meeting in Houston and says they hired a business consultant to help them decide whether to continue.

Jurgensen's retirement not his idea

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sonny Jurgensen, with the waistline of a veteran beer drinker (actually he leans more toward scotch), was asked once how he could quarterback with a protruding stomach.

"I throw with my arm, not my belly," he replied.

And throw he did during the 18 years he played in the National Football League—11 with the Washington Redskins and seven with the Philadelphia Eagles.

The 40-year-old Jurgensen was retired by the Redskins Thursday even though he made it plain he did not like the idea.

"I would have preferred to make the decision myself," Jurgensen said at a news conference. "So few people get out of the game at the right time. Everybody thinks they can do it forever. But you would like to make the decision to quit yourself.

"It's the dignity of going out," he said. "It's not a matter of being replaced by Billy Kilmer...He did that four years ago.

"It's kind of disappointing to retire this way," said Jurgensen, who holds numerous NFL passing records and led the National Conference last season although he was a part-timer. "I feel that I could still make a contribution. I believe I can still help someone win."

Earlier, at another news conference, Coach George Allen made Jurgensen's retirement official by saying he made the decision for the good of the team and its future.

"He deserves every recognition he's going to get," Allen said. "He'll go to the Hall of Fame. I hope his next years will be as productive and happy as his last 18 have been."

Allen insisted, although Jurgensen disagreed somewhat later, that money was not the primary motive in releasing the quarterback who reportedly earned $120,000

Islanders refuse to admit winning goal scored fairly

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bobby Clarke said it was the first overtime goal he could remember scoring. The New York Islanders insist Clarke still hasn't scored one.

For the record, the goal at 2:56 of an overtime period counted and gave the Flyers a 5-4 victory over the Islanders Thursday night. The Flyers now lead the National Hockey League best-of-seven semifinal playoff series 2-0.

New York claimed Clarke illegally kicked the puck into the net past goalie Billy Smith. Denis Potvin, who along with J.P. Parise scored two goals for the losers, said angrily: "Bobby Clarke kicked the puck in. The rebound came off Smith and right at his foot. His stick was in the air. There is no doubt in my mind."

"I didn't kick it in," said Clarke, the Flyers' captain and all-star center. "It hit my skate and went in. I don't think I got my stick on it. I just didn't know what was happening."

Clarke gave defenseman Ed Van Imp credit for making the play that led to the goal.

"He (Van Imp) saw Ed Westfall go to the bench for a stick.

"I broke my stick and had to come to the bench to get another," Westfall acknowledged. "If I had followed the play I would have been at the blue line without a stick."

And Island-rs' COACH Al Arbour lamented: "it was really like playing with a man short."

The Flyeks led 4-1 at one point. Then, at the end of the second period, the Islanders got a break. Denis Potvin lobbed the puck in front of the crease. The Flyers' Andre Dupont shoved Parise into Philadelphia goalie Wayne Stephenson as the puck glanced off Parise's skate and into the net to make it 4-2.

"We went up by three and started to play defensively," Clarke observed. "When you play defensively you're going to get goals scored against you. You're going to lose unless you're lucky. We were lucky tonight. We had a complete breakdown. It should have taught us a lot."

The Islanders came out firing in the third period and in the span of 14 seconds tied the score 4-4. Parise scored at 13:36, and Denis Potvin at 14:00. Hockey's new miracle workers, the team that overcame a 3-0 deficit by winning four straight games to eliminate Pittsburgh in their quarter-final set, was making another comeback.

Clarke said the Flyers gave New York encouragement with the letdown, "and they don't need that." Bob Nystrom confirmed Clarke's observation. "We established our confidence," he said. "We can skate with them."

The Flyers took a 1-0 lead at 3:13 of the opening period on a goal by Gary Dornhoefer. Denis Potvin tied it at 5:34. The Flyers then went ahead 4-1 on goals by Reggie Leach at 7:38 and Tom Bladon at 9:50 of the first period and Bill Barber's goal 58 seconds into the second period.

Biologists find new market squid

Market squid in concentrations large enough for commercial utilization have been found in coastal waters from Pt. Lobos to Cape San Martin in Monterey County, an area previously unfished for squid on a commercial basis.

The market squid, Loligo opalescens, is the most common species of squid found off the California coastline. It averages a little less than a foot in length and is popular both as food and bait.

Details of the new discovery are contained in a new technical paper published by Moss Landing Marine Laboratories of the California State University and Colleges.

The paper describes the results thus far of a continuing joint Sea Grant squid research program under way by Moss Landing Marine Laboratories and the California Department of Fish and Game.

The large concentrations of squid along the Monterey County coastline were found during a June 1974 cruise aboard the DFG research boat, the Alaska. A similar cruise is planned this June along the northern California coastline.

DFG marine biologist J. R. Raymond Ally, a participant in the 1974 cruise, outlines the goals of the research program:

— to explore for fishable concentrations of market squid;

— to develop methods for estimating the size of the squid population;

— to determine whether it is made up of a number of populations or one large population;

— to develop a method of determining the age of squid when they spawn, and if they are capable of spawning more than once;

— to determine the necessary oceanographic conditions for squid to concentrate in large groups and spawn;

— and, because of the important role squid play in the food chains of many sport and commercial fishes as well as marine mammals of the California Current, to examine the predator-prey relationship of the squid.

Ally said the 1974 cruise found fishable concentrations of squid at Santa Cruz and San Clemente islands and in Monterey Bay, areas presently fished commercially.

Large concentrations also were found between Cape San Martin and Partington Point, between Pfeiffer and Point Sur and between Yankee and Pescadero points, areas not traditionally fished, and, with the exception of Carmel Bay, unexplored for squid fishery potential.

In addition to Ally, other participants on the 1974 cruise included Dr. Thomas W. Thompson and Ronald G. Evans, marine biologists with Moss Landing Marine Laboratories.

Icy temperatures not hurting fishing

Despite temperatures so low that some fishermen found their lines freezing to their poles, approximately 10,000 anglers were on hand at Crowley Lake Saturday as the trout season opened in Inyo and Mono counties.

Most of them found the discomfort well worth the trouble and some anglers were back at the landing with limits in less than an hour. As temperatures climbed above the freezing mark more and more anglers returned with limits of seven trout.

Department of Fish and Game biologists checking the fish report the average size ran from 10 to 14 ounces with lengths in the 12-inch range. There were many larger fish landed, however, with browns and Eagle Lake trout adding variety to the catch.

An estimated 6,500 people were aboard the 1815 boats checked into the lake by midmorning on Saturday, and another 3500 crowded the shoreline on the north side of the lake. This year's opening day attendance topped last year's mark when some 8,900 anglers showed up for the first day of the season.

DFG biologists sampling the catch at Crowley Lake report boat anglers on Saturday averaged 4.7 fish per angler while shore fishermen landed 2.03 trout. On Sunday the average dipped to 3.87 trout per boat fisherman and 1.43 fish per shore angler.

Included in the weekend's catch were a number of brown trout which averaged 2 pounds, 5 ounces. Eagle Lake trout and Coleman Kamloops also showed up in good numbers, running about the same size as rainbow landed from the lake.

Although milder weather greeted anglers on Sunday with an estimated 10,000 anglers on the shoreline and on boats they had to work harder for their catches. DFG personnel checking catches report the success rate declined from 1.25 trout per hour for boat anglers on Saturday to 0.99 on Sunday. Around the shore, the success rate fell from 0.64 fish per hour on Saturday to 0.47 trout on Sunday.

DFG biologists say that despite the large number of trout taken from the lake over the weekend, last fall's plants of 383,000 sub-catchable-size rainbows, 10,600 Eagle Lake trout, 32,250 brown trout should provide good fishing for a number of weeks to come.

Largest fish reported from Crowley Lake over the weekend was a 4 pound, 10 ounce brown trout caught by Curt Marzinzik of Saugus.

The largest fish of the weekend, however, was taken at Lower Twin Lake, Bridgeport, where Dave Caspino of Canoga Park landed a brown trout that weigned in at 18 pounds, 8 ounces. Lower Twin Lake produced a number of large fish, mostly all surplus rainbow trout broodstock from Department of Fish and Game hatcheries. Many of these fish weighed from 3 to 4½ pounds.

Ice fishing, usually reserved for lakes above the 9,000 foot level, was resorted to by a number of anglers on the June Lake loop and other waters usually open by the end of April.

June Lake, more than 95 per cent ice-covered, provided some good fishing to those fortunate enough to have boats that could be put into the small open area. Rainbows to more than 5 pounds were reported from this area.

At Silver Lake, anglers adapted to the conditions with ingenuity, some of them lounging on beach chairs and rubber mattresses as they dropped their lures and baits through holes in the ice. One group of four anglers was observed playing bridge and drinking their favorite refreshment as they sat around their hole in the ice.

Sabrina Lake, a more logical candidate for ice fishing at 9,130 feet, also attracted a number of hardy anglers who braved near-zero temperatures to fish through the ice.

DFG wardens also were busy over the weekend, citing 58 anglers at Crowley Lake for a variety of offenses which included 35 overlimits, 10 for fishing in closed areas, 5 for chumming, 4 for fishing with more than one pole, and 3 for not having a fishing license.

Wardens returning from the lake cautioned anglers aboard boats large enough to have heaters or stoves to be sure and provide adequate ventilation. Four persons were overcome by carbon monoxide fumes Saturday, the result of operating a heater without adequate ventilation.

Streams at lower elevations in Inyo County attracted many anglers and yielded limits and near limits of rainbows.

The Owens River above Crowley Lake and in the vicinity of Benton Crossing produced a number of nice rainbows, running two-pounds or more.

Just a few miles from Crowley Lake, the wild trout section of Hot Creek provided a study in contrasting attitudes.

While thousands of anglers on the lake were braving winds and chill temperatures for their limits of seven trout, anglers on Hot Creek were enjoying relatively mild temperatures and fishing just for the fun of it.

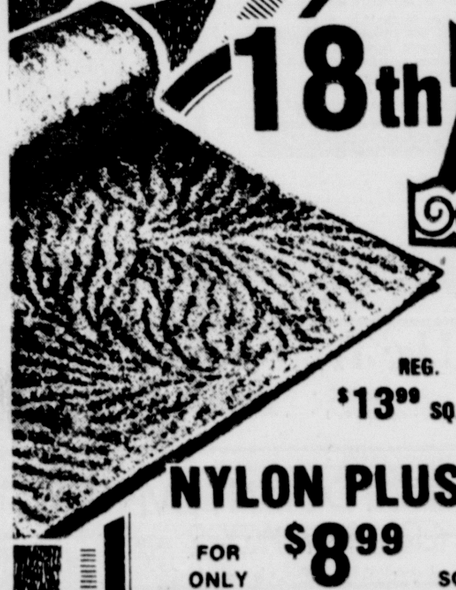

Safety class scheduled

A hunter safety class will be conducted on May 15 and 16 at the home of Harry J. Swangler at 142 N. Prospectors Rd. in Diamond Bar.

The class is available for interested persons 9 and up.

Additional information is available from Swangler at 595-0171.

Disneyland to do 'Viva Mexico!'

Disneyland's "Viva Mexico" celebration, two days of entertainment by Mexican celebrities and musical groups, will be held Saturday and Sunday to salute Mexico's Cinco de Mayo.

Highlighting the event will be appearances by vocalist and comedian Lalo Gonzalez, television personality Luis Manuel Pelayo, and singers David Reynoso and Queta Jimenez.

Joined by the mariachi sounds of Los Camperos and master of ceremonies Antonio De Marco, these entertainers will perform on Tomorrowland Stage at 1, 3 and 5 p.m. both days.

Also scheduled will be Tomorrowland Terrace performances by Mexican recording group Tabasco at 1, 2:45, 4:15 and 5:45 p.m. Main Street's Plaza Gardens will offer continuous entertainment from noon to 5:30 p.m. by Leopoldo Gonzalez, Antonio Bravo, Isela Sotelo and Los Gallos.

At 2 p.m. each day, strolling musicians, colorfully dressed dancers, decorated horses and more than 40 of Walt Disney's most famous cartoon characters will take part in a parade through the center of the park.

Grand marshall of the procession will be Bobby Chacon, featherweight boxing champion of the world.

Completing the event's activities will be Main Street area performances by Marimba Mayalandia and Los Chanouitos Feos de Tucson from 11:30 a.m. to 4:15 p.m., and concerts by the Acapulco Four at Frontierland's Mine Train Stage from noon to 4:30 p.m.

For the celebration, Disneyland will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday and from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Sunday.

LION IN THE STREETS — Jim Lawry, left, and Branch Woodman star in "Androcles and the Lion," which will have its final performance at the Peanut Gallery of the Callery Theater at 1 p.m. Saturday. Next on the series of Saturday matinees for children is "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." The theater is at C Street and Lemon Avenue, Ontario.

Mission: 1999

Barbara Bain and Martin Landau, longtime stars of the TV series, Mission: Impossible, will be exploring outer space in a new series called Space: 1999, now being filmed in England by Independent Television Corporation.

This is the British company's first TV series aimed specifically at the American market, using American stars, directors and writers.

Pegasus in orbit

The giant winged satellite Pegasus was put in orbit around the earth in 1965 to measure potential hazards of meteorites to astronauts and spacecraft.

All-Stars scheduled to play at jazz club

Dee Woolem's All-Stars will perfrom at the monthly meeting of the New Orleans Jazz Club of Southern California at the Fullerton Elks Lodge, 1451 Brea Blvd., at 1:15 p.m. Sunday.

With Woolem will be Jake Porter, Rick Fay, Chuck Anderson (currently featured with the Harry James band), Tom Busse, Rich Parnell and Gil Kraus.

Opening the session will be the popular "Miss New Orleans" Tiny Blair with a program of vocal arrangements.

The public is invited. All persons attending become members of this non-profit organization. A modest donation is requested.

The program consists of an afternoon of Dixieland jazz with a new band on stage every 30 minutes.

The objective of the NOJSC is to foster the preservation of New Orleans jazz as a cultural heritage.

Quantity

A hearty beef stew is great to make up in quantity — freeze half for a later supper or brunch. Select lean, meaty beef stew or cut beef chuck or bottom round into small cubs. Keeping the beef and vegetables cut in small chunks makes the stew easy to serve in bowls with spoons for casual service and to use later as filling for individual brunch pies.

Entertainment

READY TO ROCK — Roadside, popular five-man rock band, will take part in a rock concert in the Chaffey College gymnasium at 7:30 p.m. next Friday. Also on the card is the group, Lucille. Tickets are $1.50. Roadside is made up of, from left, Ken Hull, vocals; Dana Elston, guitars, keyboards; Dean Taylor, drums; Mark Ellenburg, bass, and Tim Gilsen, guitars. It is Chaffey's first rock concert in three years.

Violin recital ends young artist series

By RALPH PIERCE

Tuesday evening's concert in Garrison Theater by violinist Ani Kavafian brought to a close the four-concert Young Artist Series presented by the Claremont Colleges this season.

Each of the performers proved to be an outstanding example of what the current generation of musical artists can produce. The playing of Miss Kavafian, ably assisted at the paino by Alan Marks, brought the series to brilliant climax.

The opening sonata by the Baroque French composer, Leclair, brought immediate attention to the technique and musicianship possessed by this outstanding young artist. She played with an enthusiasm and intensity not always heard in performances by more seasoned performers. In this work and those which followed, the audience was aware of her complete involvement with the music as well as the style of the composer.

The Mozart Sonata K. 481, as is the case with most of the Mozart violin and piano sonatas, tended to feature the pianist more than the violinist. In this work Marks showed that he had technique and control to match most any demands. In a few parts of the Mozart and Leclair works we would have wished for a little more restraint on the part of the pianist even though the other aspects of their ensemble were excellent. The Mozart was followed by a sonata for solo violin by Ysaye. This work provided many opportunities for Miss Kavafian to display her mastery of the violin although the work tended to be somewhat shallow in comparison with the rest of the program.

After intermission Marks gave us a very fluent and spectacular reading of the Chopin C Sharp Minor Scherzo after which the two artists played the seldom heard Sonata for Violin and Piano by Ravel. This was followed by the concluding work of the evening, the Rondeau Brillante, Op. 70 by Schubert. In both of these works the mastery and musical intensity of each of the two artists came to the fore in a dramatic manner.

Everyone who attended any of the performances of the Young Artist Series couldn't help but feel that we had a preview of some of to-morrow's foremost concert artists.

Vocal program

Mezzo-soprano Ginerva Chandler and baritone Christopher Nichols will present a joint senior recital in Bridges Hall, Pomona College at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday. Admission is free.

They will sing works by Brahms, Schutz, Schumann, Debussy, Falla, Poulenc, Bartok, Berg and others. Margery Briggs, professor of music, will accompany on the piano.

In Mediterranean

The Island of Elba where Napoleon Bonaparte was confined is in the Mediterranean Sea.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE
43326
T.S. No. 1739

On May 23, 1975, at 11:00 A.M., COMMONWEALTH MANAGEMENT COMPANY, a California corporation, as duly appointed Trustee under and pursuant to Deed of Trust recorded March 30, 1973, as inst. No. 3953, in book T8133, page 963, of Official Records in the office of the County Recorder of Los Angeles County, State of California, will sell at public auction to highest bidder for cash (payable at time of sale in lawful money of the United States) at the rear entrance to Allstate Savings and Loan Association, 5077 Lankershim Blvd., North Hollywood, California, all right, title and interest conveyed to and now held by it under said Deed of Trust in the property situated in said County and State described as:

Lot 3, Tract No. 16005, as per map recorded in Book 352, Pages 32 and 33, of Maps, in the office of the County Recorder of said County.

The street address and other common designation, if any, of the real property described above is purported to be: 1712 Elwood Avenue, Pomona, California.

The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address and other common designation, if any, shown herein.

Said sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, express or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by said Deed of Trust, with interest thereon, as provided in said note(s), advances, if any, under the terms of said Deed of Trust, fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust.

The beneficiary under said Deed of Trust heretofore executed and delivered to the undersigned a written Declaration of Default and Demand for Sale, and a written Notice of Default and Election to Sell. The undersigned caused said Notice of Default and Election to Sell to be recorded in the county where the real property is located.

Date: April 23, 1975

OFFICIAL NOTICE
INVITING BIDS

Notice is hereby given that the Executive Officer-Clerk of the Board of Supervisors will receive sealed bids in a place, time and manner hereinafter described, for furnishing all materials, labor and equipment required for the construction to complete the following work:

PROJECTS TABULATION

	Specs. No.	Project	Deposit	Date of Bid Opening
SD 1	3676/3723	Mountain Meadows Golf Course General Development Phase I and II Ganesha Boulevard and McKinley Avenue Pomona, California	$30.00	5-13-75

Bids shall conform to drawings and specifications open to inspection in the Office of the Executive Officer-Clerk of the Board of Supervisors and in Room M-03, 1625 West Olympic Boulevard, Los Angeles, California 90015. Copies of the specifications and drawings of the work to be bid upon can be obtained in Room M-03, for a refundable deposit in the amount indicated. Refunds are made when drawings and specifications are returned in good condition within thirty (30) days after bid opening date.

Each bid will be submitted on a form obtained in Room M-03. Bids shall be sealed and filed at the Public Counter, Room M-03, 1625 West Olympic Boulevard, on/or before 1:45 p.m. on the date indicated. Bids will be publicly opened, examined and declared by the Facilities Department at 2:00 p.m. on this date in the Facilities Department Hearing Room M-05. For information call 974-9286.

Bidders must comply with the provisions of General Conditions of the Specifications and Form of Proposal concerning bid guarantee, contract bonds and insurance requirements, and to the requirements for appropriate license classifications issued by the Contractors' State License Board.

Pursuant to the Labor Code of the State of California, the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages for each craft or type of workman needed to execute any construction contract(s) which may be awarded the successful bidder or bidders by the County of Los Angeles. Said prevailing wage rate schedule is included in the specifications and is on file in the Office of the Executive Officer-Clerk of the Board of Supervisors.

In the event the Contractor or any subcontractor employed by him pays a workman less than the stipulated prevailing rate for such work or craft, the Contractor will be liable for all forfeits and additional wage payments provided in Section 1775 of the Labor Code of the State of California.

The Board of Supervisors reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to waive technical errors and discrepancies in bids submitted in the public interest.

Published by order of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Los Angeles, State of California, dated April 15, 1975.

and the holder of said bonds having demanded in writing that the Treasurer of the City of Pomona proceed to advertise and sell the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond. Now, therefore, I give notice that I will on the 4th Day of June, 1975 at the hour of 10:00 A.M., of said day, sell at Public Auction the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond, or so much hereof as may be necessary at City Hall, 505 South Garey, which shall be at the office of said Treasurer in said City of Pomona, California, unless the amount due on said bond and the accrued interest thereon together with the cost of the publication of this notice are paid; and that I will so sell the same to the person who will take the least amount of said lot or parcel of land and pay the full amount of unpaid principal and interest on said bond, together with costs of publication. The lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond and to be sold, is more particularly described. To wit: Lot 7, Block 114 except therefrom the North 18 feet of said Lot 7. Also except therefrom that portion of Lot 8 lying within the land in the deed to the City of Pomona recorded March 9, 1956 in Book D 3231, Page 592 of official records. The amount due on said bond up to the date of this notice is as follows: Due on the Principal thereof, Eighty-eight dollars, twenty cents ($88.20); due on account of interest Thirty-four dollars and fourty cents ($34.40); due on acount of penalties, Thirty-seven dollars, eight cents ($37.08). Total amount due on said bond One hundred fifty-nine dollars, sixty-eight cents ($159.68).

In order to avoid this sale, payment of the total amount above named will be required together with the cost of publication made before such payment and the additional interest accruing up to the date of payment. Bond may be reinstated upon payment of amounts due, interest, penalties and fees, in the manner provided by law.

In the event of sale, such sale will include interest in addition to the above total amount due accruing up to date of sale, the cost of publication Notice of Sale, and Seven dollars ($7.00) for the issuing of Certificate of Sale. The Progress Bulletin is designated as the newspaper in which this notice shall be published.

April 30, 1975.
